Attorneys Meet With Committee

Apportionment, Water Reports Due on 7th

Reports on city reapportionment and on a water department bid to increase storage at Cooper Lake, the city's main reservoir, are expected to be given by the Common Council's laws and rules committee at the Sept. 7 council meeting.

Reapportionment was discussed at a Wednesday night committee meeting, and legal aspects were dealt with by attorneys Vernon Murphy and Edward T. Feeney, who are conversant with the subject, and were invited by the committee to attend the session.

Legal Aspects Discussed

The committee noted that it had made an "intensive study" of the subject over a period of months, and said last night legal aspects "were discussed and reviewed in depth."

Along with Council Majority Leader John Machione, (R) 12th Ward, chairman, the committee is composed of James F. Howard (D) 10th Ward, council minority leader; Raymond J. Armater (R) 11th Ward; and Peter Mancuso (D) Eighth Ward. Alderman-at-Large Joseph F. Carroll Jr., also a member, is due to leave the city and is scheduled to submit his resignation from the Council Friday night.

$550,000 Bond Issue Asked

The water board has asked council approval of a $550,000 bond sum for enlarging the Cooper Lake dam and increasing storage capacity.

Mayor John J. Schwenk, after the proposal was reported, suggested that the water board consider use of water in the Echo Lake-Sawkill Creek watershed as an auxiliary supply.

This means of gaining more water, he felt, would be less costly.

Both proposals were discussed at the August water board meeting. No official report has been given on that, but it was noted that results of the discussion would be forwarded to the council committee. Unofficial reports indicate that the water board still favors its original plan. The report had been submitted directly to Machione, committee chairman.

Girl Puts Finger On Policemen as Upstate Robbers.

NEW HARTFORD, N. Y. (AP) — A 12-year-old girl, who was catching butterflies in a field, has identified two Utica policemen and an ex-member of the force as the men who "looked like" those who committed a payroll holdup July 30.

Justice of the Peace Leo Townsend ordered the girl's identity withheld at a hearing here Wednesday.

She was brought into the crowded courtroom and pointed out the three men, who were seated in different sections of the court.

Three members of the Utica police department and another, who resigned last January, have been charged in connection with a wave of robberies in the area.

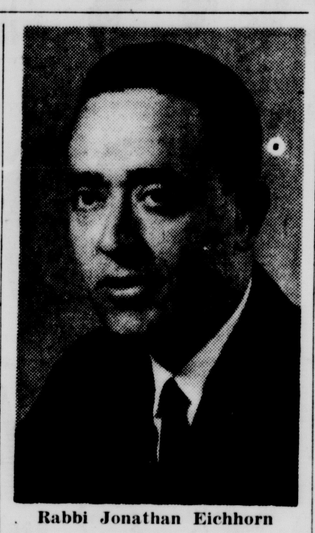

The girl was the third witness called by Dist. Atty. Arthur A. Darrigrand in the preliminary examination. Other witnesses included Lawrence Wilkinson of suburban Washington Mills, the scene of the holdup, who was the payroll clerk robbed of $5,631.

Under questioning, the girl—who did not appear to be nervous — picked out the three who "looked like the same men." She said she was catching butterflies nearby when two cars pulled up to the construction company office trailer.

"About four minutes later," she said, three men ran out and sped away.

James E. Callahan, 30, one of the suspended policemen, waived examination and was return-

Threat Is Less for Florida

Chance Is Remote Of Betsy in Area

MIMAI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Betsy's winds built up to dangerous 125-mile-an-hour fury today but a gradual northward swing in its forward movement lessened the threat to heavily populated south Florida.

"We're not quite ready yet to take south Florida off the hook," said Gordon Dunn, chief storm forecaster in the Miami Weather Bureau, "but the threat certainly has decreased. The chance that it will affect this area is becoming rather remote."

Gives Caution

But he cautioned that south Florida interests should continue to keep in touch with the hurricane advisories for another 24 hours.

Betsy was growing stronger by the hour as it whirled across the Atlantic.

The multimillion-dollar U.S. missile tracking station at Grand Turk Island, on the southern tip of the 750-mile Bahama chain, apparently was spared Betsy's punch.

Although personnel there were placed on alert, forecasters expected nothing worse than an occasional gale.

Will Take Days

"Right now, Betsy's a threat to the entire Eastern coast of the United States," said forecaster Raymond Kraft of the Miami Weather Bureau. "But it'll take days before it'll do anything so we can know who to warn."

A new pressure system is pushing across the U.S. midsection and may stall Betsy again in 48 hours or so. Kraft said. "Or it might turn back to the west," he said.

Residents of the thinly populated southeastern Bahamas were warned to prepare for high swells and pounding surf as Betsy whirled about 100 miles north of the Caicos Islands today.

200-Mile Gales

Gales whipped 200 miles in all directions in front of Betsy's calm eye except the southwest, where they blew 100 miles. That would spare the 2,000 people on the Caicos.

A caretaker space team on Mayaguana, north of Caicos, was placed on alert by a hurricane command post at Cape Kennedy. Most of the island's equipment was wiped out by Hurricane Donna in 1960.

Other stations farther north were told to get ready for 55-mile winds within 48 hours just in case.

Late Wednesday night Betsy was whipping west-northwest at 7 m.p.h., from latitude 22.6 north, 68.8 west, which is about 170 miles east-northeast of Grand Turk Island and 750 miles east-southeast of Miami.

Issues Traffic Safety Appeal, Holiday Period

Police Chief Robert F. Murphy today appealed to all persons on the highways and local streets over the holiday weekend to use utmost caution to prevent injury and loss of life.

His advice is added to thousands of others in the nation on the annual advance effort to eliminate costly accidents.

Most Since July 4

"There will probably be more cars and bikes on the road over Labor Day than at any time since July 4, and I cannot do enough to emphasize the need for safety on the road," He said.

An estimated 57 million people, more than in any other country, he noted, ride bicycles every day. They include youngsters, and adults up to senior citizens, who share the roads with various types of motor vehicles.

Knowledge of and observance of the rules of the road, common sense and simple courtesy, he emphasized, will "go a long way in making the Labor Day weekend a safe one on Kingston streets and area roads."

Cites Bike Rules

He added that since "motorists are licensed, I must assume that they know how to drive safely, and so I would just like to warn them to be alert for cyclists and give them the same consideration they would like to receive themselves. For the cyclists in the area, I'd like to pass along the 12 bicycle rules of the road sent to me by the Bicycle Institute of America. I urge all cyclists and parents of cyclists to read and know these rules:

1. Obey all traffic regulations, signs and lights.
2. Keep to the right and ride in a straight line. Always ride single file.
3. Have a white light in front and a red light or reflector in back.
4. Have a working signaling device, such as a horn or bell.
5. Give pedestrians the right of way. Avoid sidewalk riding.
6. Look out for parked cars pulling into traffic. Watch for doors opening on parked cars.
7. Never hitch on other vehicles, stunt, or race in traffic.
8. Carry no passengers or ob-

10 Million Gallons in 24 Hours

Sept. Rainfall Boosts Supply of Reservoir

September began helpfully damp in this area of the parched Northeast.

It poured 1.42 inches of rain within 23 hours in the Cooper Lake area and boosted storage in the city's main reservoir by some 10,000,000 gallons. The downpour was one of the heaviest in the area since last spring

August, in several storms, had contributed 5.27 inches to the watershed and runoff in the month was sufficient to keep the reservoir supply from depleting at the 1964 rate.

.92 of Inch Here

Before Wednesday's rain Cooper Lake storage was 4.6 feet below spillway level. Today it was up to 4.3 feet. The reservoir, at capacity, holds 1,186,000,000 gallons. It now holds about a billion gallons.

The recent rain poured .92 of an inch at Kingston in 24 hours. The downpour was heaviest Wednesday in the afternoon and evening.

Last year Cooper Lake was 8.6 feet below spillway level on this date. It had reached the danger point of 18½ feet by November, but late fall and winter rains replenished the badly depleted supply. Had it not been for those rains and helpful spring precipitation, Kingston would have been in a plight similar to that of New York City and would have become involved with emergency plans which it had started.

Gotham in Bad Way

New York City's reservoir system, as of Sept. 1, was at 39.8 per cent of capacity. All of the recent rains in the area were of little help in building up New York's reserve supply.

Edmund T. Cloonan, water department superintendent, noted Wednesday that last month's rainfall of 5.27 inches, was the heaviest in August, since 1959 when the total was 7.85 inches. Before that, 1955, a year of floods, poured 8.51 inches in the area. The month's average is 4.23 inches.

Connelly Water Line Low Bid Is $96,237 Figure

A low bid of $96,237.40, slightly over the estimate for the project, was received Wednesday night for installation of the extension of Port Ewen Water District mains to the Hamlet of Connelly in the Town of Esopus.

Spinnenweber Construction Company of Port Ewen submitted the low bid for the project to be paid by a 30-year bond issue. The cost to Connelly residents was estimated at $27.70 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

Charged to District

A portion of the bid was submitted for installation of water lines along the Port Ewen-Connelly Road in the Port Ewen Water District. This part will not be charged to Connelly taxpayers.

Brinnier & Larios, consulting engineers of Kingston will check the bids and submit their recommendations to the Port Ewen Water Board next Tuesday night. The Water Board will subsequently pass their recommendation regarding the bids to the Esopus Town Board which meets Wednesday. If a favorable report is received, the Town Board may award the contract at that meeting.

The bids were opened by the Town Board at a special meeting last night.

Supervisor Roger W. Mabie said that after the contract is awarded, work is expected to

Bargaining Leads to Hard Line

LBJ Says 2 Sides Must Give Some

By NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Slight progress was reported today in emergency White House steel negotiations, with President Johnson pushing the talks toward a critical phase.

A source in the negotiations said the steel industry had raised its money offer "a little," but that the AFL-CIO United Steelworkers Union refused to budge from its last demand.

The last publicly reported industry offer was a 40.6 cent hourly increase in wages and fringe benefits over three years. The last union demand was reportedly 49.8 cents.

Johnson has said both sides must make concessions to reach a settlement.

Union President I. W. Abel did not deny the reported industry offer to raise the ante in the multimillion dollar labor bargaining, but said: "If they have they haven't told us about it."

The talks resume at 9:30 a.m. in the fourth day since Johnson called the negotiations here from Pittsburgh in an effort to avert a strike that would cripple about 80 per cent of the nation's steel production.

The White House appeared hoping for a major break in the talks well in advance of next Thursday's 12:01 a.m. strike deadline. Johnson won an eight-day strike postponement Monday night.

"Steel negotiations have entered the stage of hard and tough bargaining," said Bill D. Movers, White House press secretary.

There was no word on the amount the industry reportedly boosted its previous offer.

The approximately 450,000 basic steelworkers now earn $4.40 an hour in wages and fringe benefits.

The reported industry hike in its offer was in addition to another slight boost which sources said the 10 major steel companies had made before leaving Pittsburgh.

An informed source said the government estimated the two sides were 12 cents apart for a three-year contract when Johnson called the talks to the White House.

Each cent of added labor costs is estimated to total some $10 million a year.

B52 Raid Blasts Cong 20 Miles From Saigon City

By EDWIN Q. WHITE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Air Force B52 bombers attacked a suspected Viet Cong area today, a U.S. military spokesman said, with a raid that rattled windows in downtown Saigon, 20 miles from the target.

The area hit was north-northwest of Saigon in the Ho Bo woods in Binh Duong Province, the spokesman said.

17th Attack

The spokesman, under security restrictions, said only that "a number" of the Strategic Air Command bombers carried out the raid, the 17th reported B52 attack of the Viet Nam war.

The Guam-based B52s have stepped up their activity in recent weeks with indications this role will be further increased. B52s made their first double-header attack of the war Tuesday, hitting targets 30 miles north and 320 miles northeast of Saigon.

Other Activity

In other air activity, the second U.S. helicopter to crash in two days went down 260 miles northeast of Saigon, injuring the four American crewmen aboard.

Military authorities said the crash occurred near An Khe, which is on Route 19 between Qui Nhon and Pleiku. The four men were evacuated to a field hospital at Nha Trang. Two were reported in serious condition.

The craft went down in what is considered a secure area. The crash was believed due to mechanical failure.

Rocky Says Federal Funds 'Drop' to Fight Pollution

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Gov. Rockefeller accuses the federal government of supplying "a drop in the bucket" of the funds needed to battle pollution in the state.

He appealed Wednesday to voters to approve a $1 billion bond issue as the key to his $1.7 billion program to eliminate pollution in New York State by 1970.

As the governor made his plea in a speech here, the State Health Department in Albany announced that the capital city would be the first target of a stepped-up drive to end water pollution by communities and industry.

Albany is charged with dumping untreated or inadequately treated sewage into the Hudson River. The hearing on the charge, set for Sept. 21, will be the first of hundreds throughout the state.

Speaking at the annual State Farm Dinner, Rockefeller noted that new state laws went into effect Wednesday strengthening the health department in its moves against pollution by communities and industries.

"But the backlog of facilities needed to halt pollution is so large and so costly," he said, "that pollution control laws, be they state or federal, cannot be fully effective without devastating financial impact on local communities."

He said the bond issue, which will be on the November ballot, would provide for grants to communities of 30 per cent of the cost of pollution-control facilities.

The governor labeled "a drop in the bucket" the $5 million he said the state receives annually in federal assistance for the program.

Dr. Alfred Fleck, deputy health commissioner, said the September hearings would concentrate on the Albany area, while October hearings would deal with pollution in other parts of the Hudson Valley and in the Mohawk River.

Rockefeller said Alexander F. (Casey) Jones, retired executive editor of the Syracuse Herald-Journal, was at the forefront of a $45-million program to tap Lake Ontario, 30 miles away, for drinking water.

While he described Jones as a Rockefeller critic whose "typewriter should have been declared a fire hazard," he nevertheless added that he and many others will remember Jones' leadership "when the waters of Lake Ontario start to flow from the tap. . .in 1967."

Survey Is Favored on Water Needs in Dry Northeast Area

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Public Works Committee has approved a proposal for the Army engineers to make a comprehensive survey of water needs in the drought-withered Northeast.

At the same time, a federal hearing date on the water shortage was changed, and a date was set for a hearing on pollution in the Hudson River basin.

Authority for the Army survey was contained in a public works bill, passed by the committee Wednesday, that would authorize a variety of navigation and flood-control projects across the nation.

But Rep. Richard L. Ottinger, D-N.Y., not the engineers, is responsible for the survey when the bill reaches the House floor.

The Westchester County Democrat introduced a bill that would carry out his suggestion, saying the council was specifically authorized by Congress to plan for the nation's water resources.

The survey would be conducted in a 12-state area from the St. Lawrence River to Chesapeake Bay.

Ottinger said the Army engineers had experience in flood-control and water - pollution abatement, but not in water-resource planning.

In other developments, Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., chairman of the Senate Interior Committee, announced a change of date for a hearing on the critical water shortage in the Northeast. The previously announced Sept. 9 date was changed to Sept. 8.

Secretary of the Interior Steward L. Udall, is expected to outline the course of federal assistance to water-short states.

Secretary of Welfare John W. Gardner called a conference on abatement of pollution in the Hudson River for New York City, Sept. 28.

Gardner said he acted on the basis of studies made by his department and on requests by the governors of New York, New Jersey and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y.

New Laws Apply On Admission of Mental Patients

ALBANY — Two new laws governing admission of patients to mental hospitals went into effect Wednesday.

The 1964 Legislature amended the Mental Hygiene Law to provide improved procedures for admission of the mentally ill and the 1965 Legislature amended the law regarding the admission of alcoholics.

Cites Major Reform

According to Dr. Christopher F. Terrance, Acting Commissioner of the Department of Mental Hygiene, the 1964 Legislature effected a major reform in laws governing the hospitalization of the mentally ill by placing initial hospital admission on a medical rather than judicial basis, thus eliminating the stigma of court certification and placing the mentally ill on a par with other sick persons.

Under the new law, there are two basic types of admissions — voluntary or informal, and involuntary upon the certification of two physicians. Initial court certification is eliminated but the constitutional safeguards of notice and the right to a judicial hearing on the need for hospitalization are preserved. Provision is made for periodic court review of the necessity of retaining an involuntary patient for continued hospitalization.

The new law also establishes a Mental Health Information Service as an arm of the judiciary to gather information for the court and to advise patients and their families of their rights under the law.

The new law makes provisions for the following types of admissions:

Informal—for the patient who seeks hospital care. The patient may leave at any time.

Voluntary — for the willing patient who agrees to remain a specified length of time.

One-Physician Certificate — for the patient who does not object to hospitalization but is unable to take the initiative.

Two-Physician Certificate — for the unwilling patient who needs hospitalization.

Health Officer's Certificate — for the potentially dangerous patient who needs immediate hospitalization.

Provision for Alcoholics

Under the 1965 amendment to the Mental Hygiene Law, alcoholics may be admitted to hospitals on an involuntary basis for the first time. Alcoholics have been admitted on a voluntary basis since 1961 when the Department of Mental Hygiene established special alcoholism units in two State hospitals (Central Islip and Rochester). Involuntary admission is now provided for on the certificate of two physicians. Application for admission of an involuntary patient must be made by an immediate or nearest relative or a person with whom the patient resides.

Three additional State hospital alcoholism units, including one for women, will be opened shortly.

Says Steel Pay Hike Would Not Hurt Prices

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) —A Cornell University professor of economics asserts that a negotiated steel wage raise of up to 4 per cent a year would have little effect on prices.

George H. Hildebrand told a monetary conference at Purdue University Wednesday that prices would creep upward "somewhat more rapidly" for another 18 months but without runaway inflation.

Lee - noticed wage-increases in construction, mining, transportation and public service, he said, have had more effect on prices than the big contracts in the auto and steel industries.

Opens District Office

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) —The State Labor Department announced today the creation of a district office to serve Westchester, Orange, Rockland and Putnam counties.

Industrial Commissioner Martin P. Catherwood named Harry P. Quinn of Scarsdale, assistant deputy commissioner, to direct the new White Plains office, with the title of assistant industrial commissioner.

Blacktop Cargo Dumped on Lawn, Route 32 Mishap

A cargo of 40 tons of blacktop was dumped on a lawn on Route 32 at the intersection of Old Kingston Road, New Paltz, at 3:45 p. m. Wednesday, after a tractor-trailer was involved in a collision with a sedan and went out of control.

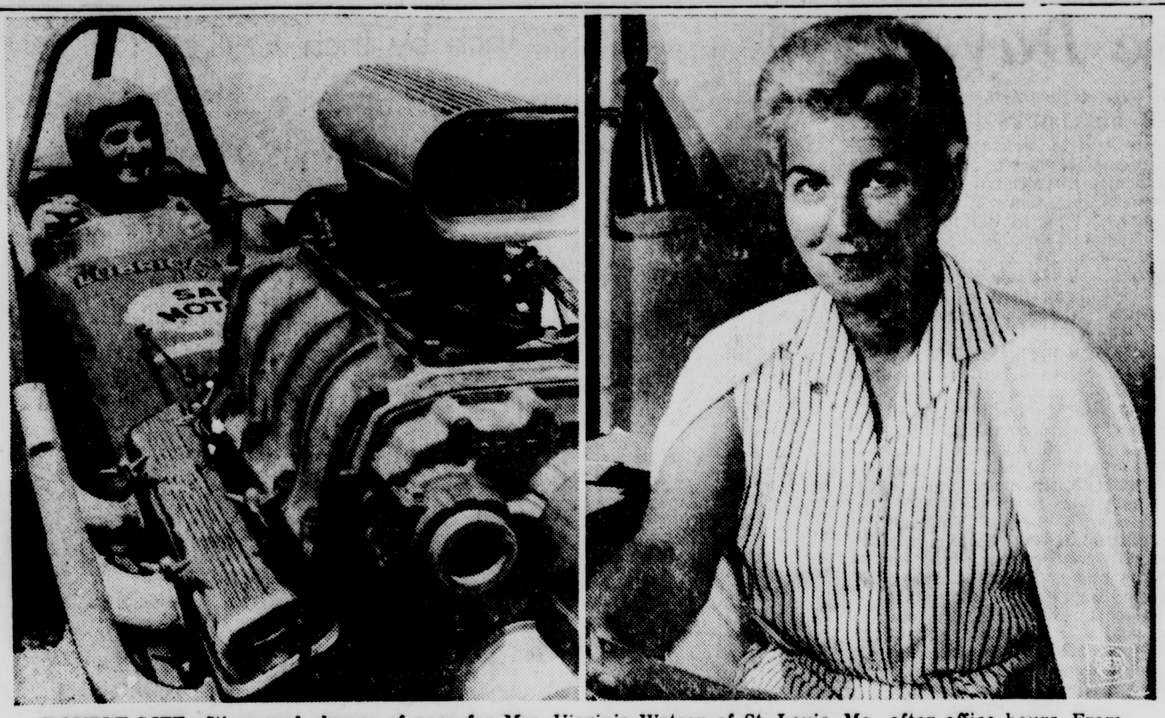

New Paltz Patrolman Vincent VanDemark reported Fred D. Sargent, 36, of 33 Sherman Avenue, Walden, was driving a tractor-trailer owned by Provan Transport Corp., of Newburgh, south on Route 32 when the vehicle was in collision with a 1963 sedan operated by Marie Sprogue, 44, of Jansen Road, New Paltz.

Officer VanDemark said the woman reportedly pulled from the driveway at the New Paltz Medical Center and her car was hit in the rear by the truck.

According to a report of Officer Edward Walsh, the truck continued into the northbound lane and rolled over on its side, spilling the cargo of blacktop on a lawn. Other employes with trucks were dispatched to the scene by the Provan Transport Co., and the blacktop was removed.

David Sprogue, 6, was treated at the New Paltz Medical Center for head injuries. No charges were made, police said.

Arthur Smith Is Candidate For Councilman

Arthur Smith, a building contractor residing on the Willow-Mt. Tremper Road and a Republican committeeman of District 2 of the Town of Woodstock, announced today that he would seek the post of town councilman in the coming election.

Educated in the local school systems and Kingston High School, Arthur Smith is associated in business with his brother Donald, is married to the former Merrill Tazelaar and resides with his family on Route 212. He served in World War II with the 27th Division Artillery in Japan and was also a member of the 8th Army Military Police in Japan.

Smith is president of Woodstock Fire Co. No. 3 of Lake Hill, is Scoutmaster of Boy Scout Troop 62 sponsored by the fire company, and is Republican Town Committeeman for District 2.

Commenting upon his intentions to run for Town Conucilman, Smith said, "The upper district, as District 2 is referred to, needs representation on the town board, and I hope to be that representative."

Lutheran Church News

A number of new courses will be introduced into the Sunday church school of Christ Lutheran Church, Woodstock, when classes resume on Sept. 12 at 9:30 a. m. They are part of the new curriculum of parish education of the Lutheran Church in America which went into effect a year ago. By September, 1967, all the new courses will be in use.

The new materials are designed to catch and hold the interest of pupils, using illustrated, hard-bound books to make people, places and events of the Bible come to life with vivid reality. Experiences in the class session throw the light of the gospel upon the student's daily life at home and at school.

Objective course materials and teach-learning activities are carefully fitted to thet pupil's age level. Courses for each grade are planned for the capacity, vocabulary and life interests of that age, and, year by year, the courses unfold the message of the Bible. The Sunday church school offers this educational opportunity to everyone from the age of three to adulthood.

Donald Lawson, chairman of the Committee on Christian Education of Christ Evangelical Lutheran Church, has announced that an orientation meeting for teachers will be held on Thursday, Sept. 9, 8 p. m. in the fellowship hall. Mr. Lawson, assisted by Mrs. Edouard Blatter of West Hurley will lead a discussion on lesson preparation.

The Sacrament of Holy Communion will be observed this Sunday at 9:30 a. m. Next Sunday the worship service returns to its regular hour at 11 a. m.

Confirmation classes will be formed Saturday, Sept. 25. Young people in the seventh and eighth grades will be eligible with further details forthcoming at a later date.

MAN IN LITTLE BOAT

How can it happen that in the heyday of man's exciting assault on space, so ancient a situation as a man in a boat can command the enthralled attention of people throughout the world?

Perhaps the answer is that human nature has always thrilled and responded to individual valor and to man's eagerness to pit his skill and stamina against the elements, and public reaction has been intense whether the feat of heroism be orbiting the globe in space or single - handedly defying the fury of the sea.

And that may explain why the calm courage and supreme confidence of a journalist from Cleveland, Ohio, gripped the interest and imagination of the world as for 78 days and 77 nights he sailed alone in a 13½-foot boat across the treacherous Atlantic from Falmouth, Mass., to Falmouth, England.

Six times during the perilous journey Robert Manry was swept overboard by mountainous seas and heavy winds. Each time he climbed back aboard, thanks to his foresight of lashing himself to the boat.

Twice he disappeared in fog and gales while countless thousands joined his wife and two young children in prayer.

When he finally reached the shores of England — stiff, sore, sunburned, bearded and rubber-legged, but still calm and unperturbed—he received worldwide coverage by the media and a hero's welcome that surprised no one but him.

Why did Robert Manry risk his life in such an adventure?

"Because I've always wanted to."

Why did his wife Virginia accept and share his great experience with such happy confidence?

"Not many men," she said, "have the opportunity to fulfill their greatest personal ambition. Bob did. Naturally, I wanted him to take it."

Astronauts in a spaceship. A lonely sailor in a little boat. A mountain climber. A deep sea explorer.

Each is expressing in his own way man's unquenchable ambition to test his true potential. And each attainment brings reassurance to all of us that our fulll dominion can and may be realized.

THEFT ON THE DOCKS

Ten billion dollars worth of luxury merchandise flows into New York harbor each year. Losses by theft run into millions of dollars annually.

This problem is not unique to New York. Nor is it a matter of indifference to the general public. For though harbor theft is commonly regarded as a problem of concern only to manufacturers, shippers and insurance companies, the consumer pays millions each year in higher costs to cover these losses. It is his problem, too.

The magnitude of the problem is best understood by taking a look at New York, whose harbor handles three-fourths of the nation's luxury import shipping. The Waterfront Commission has made some progress in recent years, but it is understaffed. Its 46 investigators attempt to keep track of 650 miles of shoreline. This contrasts with New Orlean's' 50 miles of shore and 75 harbor police. New York relies heavily on dock guards hired by private industry but licensed by waterfront authorities.

What can be done, aside from hiring investigators and guards, to make luxury goods more secure on the docks? The experience of harbors with low loss rates suggests that larger and stronger packaging, improved dock lighting, better policing of unloading areas and accurate record-keeping help to cut waterfront losses. Fast handling and limited nighttime access also help. And since most dock pilferage is unorganized and individual, the unions can play a key role by threatening job loss or canceled registration for longshoremen convicted of theft.

Greater effort ought to be made along these lines. Even in our affluent society, consumers ultimately feel the pinch of heavy losses by theft.

Some people object to "sandwich" coins made of copper and nickel instead of silver. But so long as they'll buy sandwiches, who cares what they're made of?

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

THE VOICE OF REALISM IN ASIA

From time to time I have written columns about the mythical Foreign Minister of Ruritania, putting words into his mouth which, to me, convey the more common-sensical views of international relations. I never thought to run into the Foreign Minister of Ruritania in the flesh, but not so long ago I did meet him, at a party in New York City. Only he wasn't a mythical diplomat from a make-believe land, he was a very real person named Thanat Khoman, the Foreign Minister of Thailand.

Thanat Khoman, who will be in this country in the autumn when the United Nations once again comes out from under wraps, is a man of salty wit who speaks a most colloquial English. If there is any movement to promote a phony peace in Southeast Asia that will only serve as a cover for continued Communist expansion, you may be sure that Thanat Khoman will raise a most realistic voice against it.

This man, who carries the fate of Thailand on his weary back, sees through the Communists as most of us, in our soft and easy-living land, do not. It might embarass him if I were to quote him directly on certain American commentators who argue that Southeast Asia is outside our "sphere of influence" and who say that we cannot "police the world." But Thanat Khoman's own questioning about the universalist drive of the Communists cuts sharply through the nonsense that we shall very likely hear this autumn at the "teach-ins" which the forces of the Left are now planning for scores of college campuses. "Have you ever heard anywhere," so Thanat Khoman asks, "of any Communist power, be it from Asia or from Europe, recognizing that the free world, the western world, has a sphere of influence? In this world we cannot expect the Communists to recognize any American sphere of influence or any British sphere of influence, or any French sphere of influence. They consider the whole world their sphere of influence. We have seen it in Africa, in Latin America, not to speak about Asia."

Thanat Khoman served in the underground during the time of the Japanese occupation of his country. Thailand, of course, had been the one nation of Southeast Asia never subjected to European colonial occupation during the nineteenth century. It had become used to freedom, and Thanat Khoman was fiercely outraged when Japan, an Oriental nation, succeeded in turning Thailand (which means "land of the free") into a conquered province where all the powers of Europe had failed. He is just as much outraged now when he hears complacent voices saying that the freedom of Southeast Asia is no concern of the West.

"The problem," he says, "is one of peace and survival. We in Thailand have no place to retreat. So we shall make our first stand and our last stand there."

The Red Chinese have already declared war on Thailand, in Thanat Khoman's opinion. He points to the statement made by the Chinese Foreign Minister, Chen Yi, that guerilla warfare would be wracking Thailand by this autumn. Thanat Khoman admits that his country has always had a bandit problem in its less civilized reaches. The northeastern part of Thailand is particularly wild and rugged. But banditry does not explain the emergence in Thailand of "traders" who have come from across the Mekong River, infiltrating through the paddy land. It does not explain the rise of something called "the patriotic front of Thailand" which is a carbon copy of the National Liberation Front in South Vietnam.

Before he left New York for a tour of the United States last May, Thanat Khoman scoffed at the idea that this country might be pushed out of South Vitanam. He had a low opinion of the power that the Viet Cong, the North Vietnamese, or even the Red Chinese might be able to mass against America. "They don't know a darned thing about it," he said of those who were preaching that the United States was over-extended in Southeast Asia. This, of course, is not what you hear at the teach-ins. But Thanat Khoman's voice is that of a realist. It's too bad that protocol won't let him become part of the university lecture circuit when the peddlers of delusion get going on Lyndon Johnson's foreign policy in the coming academic year.

The Doctor's Mailbag

Early Treatment Needed To Check Liver Cirrhosis

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—How does a doctor diagnose cirrhosis of the liver? What are the symptoms? Is there a cure?

A—The diagnosis is based on a history of chronic malnutrition, alcoholism or hepatitis; feeling the liver and finding it of a harder than normal consistency; and a series of laboratory tests which show loss of normal liver function. In the early stages the victim has a loss of appetite and easy fatigability. Later there is loss of weight, a collection of fluid in the abdomen, jaundice and bleeding from the stomach or esophagus.

This is a serious disease but skillful treatment in the early stages may result in a cure. Every effort must be made to get the victim to put on weight. Vitamin supplements may be needed. Alcohol must be completely renounced. A salt-poor diet and water pills (diuretics) help to relieve the fluid accumulation in the tissues.

Q—My son, 18, had an operation in January to remove a pterygium from both eyes. Now they are growing back again. Is there any way to prevent such a recurrence?

A—A pterygium is a membrane that grows out, usually from the inner corner of the eye, onto the cornea. Surgical removal is the only treatment. The removal must be complete followed by scraping or cautery of the involved area to prevent recurrence but even this is not a guarantee.

Q—What is tunnel vision? Is it curable?

A—Telescopic, tubular or tunnel vision is a contraction of the visual field until you see only what is directly in front of you—no vision out of the corner of your eye. This occurs in advanced glaucoma and retinitis pigmentosa. If either of these diseases has progressed to the point of tunnel vision total blindness is inevitable.

Hysteria sometimes causes tunnel vision and even complete blindness. Since this is an emotional reaction, an eye specialist will find nothing wrong with the eyes and cure is possible if the underlying cause is discovered and removed. This would require the services of a psychiatrist or a psychiatrically oriented internist.

Q—What is succinate and what is it given for?

A—A succinate is a salt of succinic acid. Many succinates are used in medicine—decapryn succinate, dioctyl sodium sulfosuccinate, hydrocortisone sodium succinate, hydroxydione sodium succinate to name but a few. Each of these has its own special use.

Inch by Inch

Washington News

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
Washington Correspondent, Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Serious harm is being done to the rule of law in this country by growing attitudes which seem to have little to do with any reasonable concept of democracy.

The criminal's contempt for the law is easy to define and deplore, whether exhibited in "normal" criminal activities or the wild unleashing of a riot.

A new kind of disdain for law is represented by the widening civil disobedience associated now with the civil rights movement and some other forms of social and political protest.

It is not implausible to suggest, as has been done, that this sort of disrespect or mistrust of the law has mounted in ratio with rising frustrations over the flawed fulfillment of the American ideal.

The man without the substance of freedom finds it hard to accept freedom's laborious processes. He can become enraged at the deliberate warping of those processes against him.

Nevertheless, in midsummer of 1965, this is not the full heart of the matter.

BEYOND THE CRIMINAL'S CONTEMPT and the civil disobeyers' presumed temporary mistrust, there is developing the idea that the law and the ordered processes of liberty are the nearly permanent enemies of countless Americans standing in minority positions of one sort or another.

Whether the cause be "peace in Viet Nam," getting the United States out of the United Nations, reversing court apportionment decisions or whatever, it is clear that increasing numbers of people are unprepared to accept contrary verdicts handed down by elected officials, legislatures and courts.

These people are espousing what might fairly be termed the Doctrine of the Unyielding Minority. Majority rule is not really for them. They see that rule, when it goes against them, as the product of fuzzy compromise, or of a perverse coalition of forces bent only upon blockading them.

Whether they be peace marchers, racial extremists of either color, or far-out rightwingers, minorities which try to build durable fortifications against the majority can only stratify American society disastrously.

Their transgression is not simply against the applicable law or court ruling or executive decision. It is against the democratic fundamental that free men, existing always in conflicting minorities, must blur their differences in an accommodation which constructs a majority.

Linked with that notion, of course, is the idea that those individuals and groups not comprised in the majority will nevertheless accept its governance.

FROM TOO MANY AMERICANS today we are not getting this acceptance. They do not regard as "theirs" a president or Congress or Supreme Court whose choices they do not like.

In the heat of their disapproval, some protestors seek to discredit almost totally not just the decisions they dislike but the men and the institutions involved in the established processes of choice.

With sometimes frightening casualness, some people look not to these established processes to reverse choices they dislike, but go beyond these bounds to try by other means to countermand the decisions.

The temptation is understandably great where law has been consciously written to repress minorities, or has been long-abused in practice. This explains some of the tolerance being given to civil disobedience in the racial field.

THE DANGER TO DEMOCRACY in this growing habit is that it may be followed almost without limit. The use of "outside means" grades quickly from mere pressure upon government to harsh forms of coercion aimed at despoiling any government which will not serve the pleaders' special ends.

Some protesters against U. S. Viet Nam policy have moved part way down this road with their calls to young Americans to ignore the draft law. Others, working for varied causes, often threaten to bring a city or a university or a governing body to a grinding halt if they do not get their way.

They act in the name of freedom. But fredom is no license to act upon one's wishes or one's views in disregard of larger concerns. The tyranny of the minority is the enemy of ordered liberty.

'Unjust Law' Doctrine Is Deplored by Cleric-Lawyer

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—It isn't often that a clergyman has also had a successful career as a government lawyer and in private business. Ministers have rarely had the opportunity to study the law of the land as was the experience of the Rev. Dr. Robert B. Watts, pastor of an Episcopal church in La Jolla, Calif.

A sermon delivered by Dr. Watts since the Los Angeles riots deplores the doctrine that it is all right to disobey an "unjust" law. The latter idea, enunciated by the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., Negro leader, has aroused considerable objection not only among clergymen but among laymen as well throughout the country.

Dr. Watts graduated from Yale Law School, where he was editor of the Yale Law Journal. He practiced law in Chicago and New York, and was chief assistant U. S. Attorney in New York City for several years and served also as special assistant to the Attorney General of the United States. He was with the National Labor Relations Board for nine years — from 1934 to 1943. For three of these he was general counsel of the board and argued many of its cases in the Supreme Court of the United States.

He served also in business as vice-president and general counsel of Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corp. and later with General Dynamics Corp. He was ordained in 1958 in the Episcopal Diocese of Los Angeles. Dr. Watts, in his recent sermon, said:

"There has been advanced by various philosophical followers of the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., one of the most extraordinary suggestions ever made in Anglo-Saxon or American legal annals. As a mixture of sophistry and soft-headedness, brewed by non-legal or corroded legal minds, I assert that this suggestion has spawned the present wave of destruction now sweeping the country.

"In brief, this proposed doctrine is that if any individual citizen or group of citizens, after mediation, come to the conclusion that any law is unjust; and further conclude that if apprehended he or they are willing to accept the penalty imposed for violation of the law—then it becomes forally justifiable to break the law openly and notoriously.

"Of course the worst thing about this doctrine is that there are no dividing lines in it. If it is valid for a small violation, it applies equally to a more serious one. Once you start this approach there is no stopping. It is like a roller coaster which nears the top of the track. Once you push it over a little bit, it plunges down all the way.

"The amazing things is that many clergy of this church, including both priests and bishops, have openly and officially accepted this doctrine. Episcopal clergymen have received written expressions of this doctrine for their guidance. And large numbers of clergy of this and other communions have been sent, or have gone on their own volition, to Southern areas for the sole purpose of expressing racial concerns by open law defiance pursuant to this new assertion of moral right.

"Finally, as sorely distressed Christians we see instance after instance of reluctance on the part of elected officials to meet lawlessness quickly and firmly lest there be an adverse effect upon their personal political careers at the ballot box. Thank God, not all our officials are of this character, but too many are."

Dr. Watts declared that it ought to be perfectly clear that no person, "however exalted he may be or regard himself, has the right to say that what was wrong before becomes morally right if the acting party is willing to be punished if caught." He pointed out that clergymen have a duty not only to support the Constitution and laws of the land, but to reject the doctrine "of a morally justified civil disobedience."

He urged that there be no compromise with lawlessness, and he added that Christians should "seek by all lawful and proper means to help our neighbors to achieve civic equality of treatment and betterment of opportunity for self-improvement."

While it is understandable that there should be a difference of viewpoint as to the wisdom of participation by the clergy in public demonstrations, there has been much discussion among the clergymen as to how far such activities should extend. There is widespread sentiment that clergymen, as individual citizens, may express themselves freely on problems of human behaviors, but that ministers ought not to take part in "sit-ins" or "lie-ins" or in any mass protests which can incite violence.

It is apparent that many of the younger clergymen are taking the position that, since the objective is worthy, any method used to achieve it is permissible, whereas the clergymen of more mature years, irrspective of their sectarian affiliations, are arguing that clergymen have the same obligation as do other citizens to obey the law.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

A reader loaned me "Academy News, Kingston, Nov. 1884." The red brick Kingston Academy used to stand in Academy Green before the Kingston High School was built. This magazine was published monthly, by the Literary Society of Kingston Academy. Justus I. Wakelee, was the editor aided by Anna Y. Blauvelt, Clifford M. Wheeler, and Warren S. Chipp was business manager that year. All students were requested to contribute to its columns. Articles most desired were short stories, pieces of poetry and little sketches. Graduates were requested to contribute brief personal items concerning themselves and others. Matters designed for publication were to be written in ink and on but one side of the paper.

One article is about the ventilation in the Senior class room. "A great part of the time it is impossible to study on account of the heat . . . even when one or two of the windows are open a few inches it is no enough while 30 or 50 pairs of lungs are striving to obtain oxygen and at the same time giving of carbon dioxide, and so the same air is breathed over and over again. The effect of this is seen in the listlessness and dullness of the pupils who are reciting and the inability of those who are trying to study to fix their minds upon the subject in hand. We hope that the "powers that be" will devise some way of remedying this evil." It was written in 1884 in The Academy News. Now in 1965 one can go into many of the public buildings in the winter and find them overheated and airless or like dead-air. One will find this type of airless heat in rooms where meetings are held, it is overheated and a canary could not survive, yet it is considered modern. Those modern overheated rooms are not even good for books, papers and furniture, they dry everything out.

This November 1884 Academy News must have come right out after election, and they say a few words about it in this Kingston literary paper: "The oldest inhabitants say that it has been one of the most exciting campaigns within their recollection. We have had a surfeit of the glittering torch, the blazing bonfire, the shrieking fife, the rattling drum and buncombe . . . the air has been murk with the defamation of character, so much so, that often our political newspapers have not been fit to be taken into the home. At this writing it is not fully decided who is to be our next president. (Grover Cleveland was elected in 1884).

There is another item on the recent tendency on the part of some teachers to discontinue the school recess." A committee was appointed by the National Teachers' Assn. held at Madison, Wisc. in 1884 to report on it. Here were some of the objections. It exposed children to the inclemency of the weather. It led to rough and boisterous play. It exposed pupils to various associations deemed to perhaps corrupt their morals, etc. They advised that fresh air and sunlight was important for growth of young bodies, and to also the while ventilate the school rooms to free the air from carbonic dioxide. They did have morning and afternoon gymnastics and calisthenics. I remember in my time, some teachers used to open the windows, and make us march around the room to wake us up. Forced exercise always seemed a little silly to me. Everyone is always thinking about what is good for us, why don't they ask us first.

There are many advertisements such as: Mason's Electric Light Baking Power, made from grape cream tartar sold by W. U. Mason, 63 North Front St., Kingston, New York.

Three Are Hurt In T'way Mishaps During Rainstorm

Three persons were injured Wednesday evening in separate one-car traffic accidents which occurred during a heavy rain on the State Thruway.

State Police Sergeant H. H. Ganss of the Thruway detail said Ronald Fenn, 26, of East Lake, O., was driving his car south on the Thruway about five miles north of Kingston at 6 p. m. when the vehicle apparently skidded on wet pavement and crashed into guard rails.

Fenn and his wife were taken to Kingston Hospital for treatment, according to a report of Trooper J. J. Syvertsen. Fenn was later cited by the trooper for driving a motor vehicle with unsafe tires. He pleaded guilty before Justice of the Peace Robert Ferrigan and was fined $5.

At 6:20 p. m. a car driven by Alfred Kwartler, 29, of Van Cortland Avenue, Yonkers, skidded out of control and struck a rock cut on the Thruway south of Kingston. Sergeant Ganss said Kuartler said he was injured and would see his own physician. Trooper John Ryan investigated.

Home Rule Bill Locked in House

WASHINGTON (AP) — A drive to bring the District of Columbia "home rule" bill to the House floor Sept. 13 has failed despite persistent appeals from President Johnson.

But the measure still can be wrenched from the district committee before Congress adjourns and Johnson still believes it will be passed this year, Bill D. Moyers, White House press secretary said Wednesday.

The petition to discharge the committee has 185 signatures. To take effect at least 218 members, a majority of the House, must sign.

There are as many as 15 different spices used to make curry powder.

HOPATHON PERFORMERS—The Monzeles of Kingston (above) and the Ravens of Saugerties will be among rock and roll groups appearing in the second annual Cerebral Palsy Hopathon Friday night, Sept. 10 at the Kingston Municipal Auditorium. Also appearing will be the Detergents, Lenny Welch, Randy and the Rainbows, the Exciters, Maxine Brown, Nella Dodds, the Hi-Lites and the Mourners. The show will start 5 p. m. with Joe Shuler and Bob Milling as masters of ceremony. All proceeds will go to the Ulster County Cerebral Palsy Center. Sponsored by the Town of Ulster Kiwanis Club, the event will feature awards and refreshments.

Pakistani Move 5 Miles Behind Indian Border

By CONRAD FINK

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — A Pakistani attack spearheaded by tanks penetrated five miles inside Indian positions in southwest Kashmir as fighting raged on for a second consecutive day, India announced today.

Defense Minister Y. B. Chavan told Parliament a massive attack by at least 3,000 Pakistani troops and 70 tanks cross the international frontier had "seriously escalated" the fighting, and that the situation was still "developing."

Chavan claimed 13 tanks were destroyed.

He acknowledged India lost four of its planes that attacked the tanks — two planes missing and two damaged.

It appeared that despite an Indian counterattack at dawn today, Pakistani tanks were ble to burst through the Indian lines and roam about in southwest Kashmirs' flatlands.

No new major action was reported in three salients the Indians pushed into Pakistani territory in recent attacks, but there was ominous talk of a wider conflict.

Speaker Hukam Singh of the lower house of Parliament refused to let members ask Chavan questions, saying that it was not possible when there is "actual war between us and Pakistan."

Chavan said India was responding to Pakistan's "escalation" with all necessary "counter measures" and that "we have to take an over-all view of defense."

That was an obvious reference to other sectors on India's long and tense frontier with Pakistan.

Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri was reliably reported to have said in a briefing for Indian political leaders that India expects "very big clashes," and that India's strategy must be considered in a "much wider context."

Senate for O'Brien

WASHINGTON (AP)The Senate confirmed by voice vote today President Johnson's nomination of Lawrence F. O'Brien to be postmaster general.

TALK OVER RAIL MERGER—Herman V. Pevler, left, chief executive of the Norfolk & Western Railway, and Walter J. Tuohy, chief executive of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway, get together after a press conference announcing plans for the merger of their railroads in New York. They offered to include in their system, on specified terms, five other major eastern railroads: Erie Lackawanna, Delaware and Hudson, Boston and Maine, Reading, and Central of New Jersey. Driver Injured, Cited in Crash

While driving his car east on Route 299 at 10:55 p. m. Wednesday, Dionisio Mauro Jr., 41, of Liverpool, lost control as the vehicle skidded on wet pavement, slid across Route 9W and crashed into a tree.

State Police Sergeant William Cameron, Highland, said Mauro was cited by Trooper Edward Pulver on a charge of passing a stop sign. The summons is returnable before Justice of the Peace Linn Baker, Town of Lloyd, on Tuesday.

Mauro was treated at Vassar Hospital, Poughkeepsie, for lacerations of the chin and left thumb. He was later released.

18th Nuclear Blast

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Atomic Energy Commission fired Wednesday its 18th announced underground nuclear test blast of the year at its Nevada testing grounds.

The explosion was described as low in yield, which means its force was equivalent to that of less than 20,000 tons of TNT.

Lyndon Johnson and Foreign Affairs

Road to Success Is Not as Easy For LBJ on Worldwide Level

EDITOR'S NOTE — Congress may be tractable, but the world at large is not. In his foreign policies, President Johnson has come up against some king-sized problems. This is the third of four articles on LBJ in action.

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — "We cannot expect to mash a button." President Johnson said soon after he took office, "and have our wishes carried out all over this globe."

Today Johnson could find use for a string of magic buttons which — presto — could wipe out foreign police problems which have risen up to plague him.

Cites Examples

To name three: Viet Nam, the Dominican Republic, and United Nations finances. The last two, while still present, are not acute at the moment, but the question of Viet Nam has become more serious since he took office in November 1963.

Johnson came to the White House comparatively untested on foreign issues. On the other hand, he was a recognized master of domestic issues.

But the foreign picture has its brighter spots, too. To name three again:

— The Panama problem, which erupted with Canal Zone riots in January 1964 as Johnson's first full-blown foreign crisis, has receded into negotiations that show promise of curing two long-standing issues, Panama's discontent with the old Canal Zone treaty, and agreement on a new sealevel waterway.

Congo Subdued

— The former Belgian Congo, giant in the heart of Africa, has survived insurgency and African animosities with a strengthened pro-West regime at Leopoldville.

— Cyprus, threatening to ignite war between North Atlantic Treaty Organization allies Turkey and Greece a year ago, has calmed after extensive U.S. diplomacy in foreign chanceries and the United Nations.

To label any one of these cases as a success or failure entirely attributable to Johnson is to credit him with more power than he commands. As Johnson put it, "We are not the last word" — other forces are at work too, and every crisis has historical antecedents.

Verdict in Future

The final verdict is in the distant future on Johnson's foremost foreign affairs difficulty — the conflict with communism in Southeast Asia.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara returned from a July inspection trip to South Viet Nam saying the situation had deteriorated. Johnson had ordered the first sustained bombing of North Viet Nam begun in February and sent initial U.S. ground combat forces to South Viet Nam the following month. Now he has increased the U.S. military manpower commitment by 50,000, to 125,000.

Battle reports are producing moderate optimism on defeating the current Viet Cong summer offensive. Yet the Reds still show no sign of wanting to talk peace. Even if there should be clear military gains in the coming months, a long task would lie ahead in strengthening South Viet Nam to the point where it could stand without outside aid.

China A Bug

There persists the grave question of whether the Communist Chinese might move in bodily on the Viet Nam warfare.

In the Dominican chaos last April, Johnson averted what he portrayed as the threat of another Cuba by sending in more than 20,000 troops. Still, there was sharp criticism from many Latin Americans who protested what they called a return to the gunboat diplomacy which preceded the good neighbor policies of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The Organization of American States has been on the scene in the Dominican Republic now, with a force still largely American negotiating for an interim government.

Large-scale U.S. aid for years is in prospect after Dominican government finally is set up.

The U.N. Scene

At the United Nations, Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg announced the administration's formal abandonment of the lengthy U.S. effort to force the Soviet Union and other delinquent members to pay their U.N. dues on peacekeeping operations.

This about-face from the position previously taken by the Johnson and Kennedy administrations indicates a new method of financing the world organization will have to be worked out. The United States has been by far the largest contributor.

The wide and often turbulent field of U.S.-Soviet relations generally has come under the cloud of Viet Nam. Keeping affairs with Moscow on an even keel is Washington's main effort now. U.S.-Soviet negotiators succeeded last year in agreeing on a consular treaty. No breakthrough on disarmament is in sight.

Some progress with Communist bloc countries is in increased trade, travel and relaxing tensions has been reported from Johnson's policy of building bridges to Eastern Europe. This is a slow but continuing process.

Stagnation marks U.S. relations with Western Europe. Johnson has hewed to American policy favoring European unity and closer transatlantic ties. A revival of talk about a multilateral nuclear force is expected after West Germany's elections this fall.

But French President Charles de Gaulle stands firmly athwart moves to integrate the European countries, and France remains in the heart of Europe.

Mixed Record

The record is mixed elsewhere. The overthrow of Ahmed Ben Bella seems to have improved the U.S. view of Algiers. Relations with the United Arab Republic's Gamal Abdel Nasser are uneasy but not rock bottom. With Indonesia's Sukarno they are going sharply downhill. U.S. diplomats have found no way to stop the India-Pakistan strife.

In Latin America the Johnson administration has stepped up Alliance for Progress aid. The program still gets complaints from Latin Americans of bureaucratic strictures by Washington, and criticisms from some U.S. officials that the Latin Americans are foot-dragging on reforms.

Veterans' Rights, Benefits Listed

By: Charles Culver, State Veteran Counselor, NYS Division of Veterans Affairs, and John Tyler, Director, Ulster County Veterans Service Agency, County Office Building, Kingston.

CIVIL RELIEF ACT: Young men facing the draft should familiarize themselves with the privileges afforded them under the Soldiers and Sailors Civil Relief Act. Copies are available from this office.

INSURANCE: Some out-of-state insurance companies are using names which would infer that they are in the business of selling GI insurance. Veterans and GI's in New York State are cautioned against doing business with such firms. For your protection before purchasing insurance, be sure the firm is registered to do business in New York State.

EDUCATION: There is no limit to the number of children in a deceased veterans family who are eligible for educational benefits under the War Orphans Educational Assistance Act. All children in the deceased veterans family are generally entitled to benefits when they reach 18 years of age. Be sure your GI insurance beneficiary listing is up to date.

PENSION: Veterans with non-service connected disabilities can no longer deduct from reported income the full amount they have contributed to other pension or retirement plans.

The practice, ceased last January 1st of this year when the present law went into effect. Prior to that time, a person was able to report "no income" until the entire amount contributed by him to a pension or retirement fund had been returned to him. The new law limits the amount that may be excluded as income to ten per cent of the total contributed.

Veterans pensions are paid on the basis of need and recipients must report their entire income. The VA will allow deduction of the following in determining income eligibility: (1) Ten per cent of the payments under any public or private annuity or retirement plan, including Social Security (2) Amounts paid by a recipient for the last illness and burial of a spouse or child (3) Profit realized from sale of real estate or personal property other than in the course of business (4) Payments received for jury duty (5) Payments under the War Orphans Educational Assistance Act (6) State Bonuses (7) All of a spouse's earned income, or $1,200 of her income, which ever is more advantageous.

To Buy Gorillas

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Albuquerque's Junior Chamber of Commerce has launched a project to raise $15,000 for the purchase of three gorillas.

The Jaycees started a cleanup project at the zoo in 1963. The gorilla idea came after construction started on a $94,000 ape house.

There's Never a Dull Moment in Space

When Gemini-5 soared off Pad 19 in a perfect launching, the project seemed headed for a perfect conclusion. All did go well for a while—a short while. As everyone now knows, trouble developed in the new electric power system that threatened to end the planned eight-day mission on its first day. In the history of the U.S. space program, such unexpected happenings seem par for the course. Illustrated below are some of the surprises of previous manned space flights.

Feb. 20, 1962—John Glenn, our first orbiting astronaut, had a pleasant, unprogrammed surprise as his Mercury capsule passed over Perth, Australia, where it was late nighttime. He spotted a bright glare there and later learned that Perth had turned on all its lights for him.

May 24, 1962—Scott Carpenter's orbital mission brought dire dread to the millions following the flight on radio and television. During re-entry, radio contact was lost for 40 minutes. An explosive sigh of relief went up when he was spotted floating in a life raft.

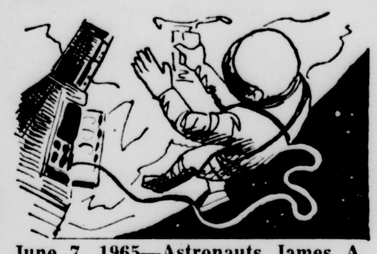

Oct. 3, 1963—Wally Schirra's 9-hour, 13-minute flight approached perfection, with no untoward incidents or crises. But it made history as the first time that the launching of an orbital space vehicle was successfully beamed to Europe via the then-new Telstar satellite.

May 15, 1963—Gordon Cooper's 34-hour, 20-minute flight went smoothly until near the end. Starting re-entry, his automatic control system became balky. He daringly brought the capsule down by manual control. Tension mounted until his parachute was finally seen in the sky.

March 23, 1965—Gus Grissom and John Young were launched on America's first two-man orbital mission. Their four-hour, 54-minute flight went smoothly. Televiewers were given an unexpected thrill when they saw President Johnson phone Grissom, saying "Gus, this is Lyndon Johnson."

June 7, 1965—Astronauts James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White, in their Gemini-4 mission, were the first Americans to team up for "space-walking." White, the walker, was so exhilarated that he wouldn't return to the capsule until after he was peremptorily ordered back.

WISE potato chips

Today in Washington

By LEE GARRETT

WASHINGTON (AP) — A few possible stumbling blocks to adjournment of Congress are being dropped for this year, and a reported slight increase in the steel companies' wage offer brightened steel labor negotiations a bit.

U.S. officials saw a hopeful sign in a report that recent desertions from South Viet Nam's armed forces have dropped to half the number early this year.

Will Have to Wait

Congress schedule: Legislation to increase the minimum wage, provide for congressional redistricting and standardize state unemployment compensation benefits apparently will have to wait until next year for action. There is renewed talk Congress may adjourn late this month — if a filibuster over the union shop doesn't prevent it.

The Senate Democratic Policy Committee omitted the three items from a still heavy list of bills scheduled for action before adjournment.

At the same time, the policy committee called for Senate action this year on other major proposals, among them a $4.7-billion higher education bill, a revision of the farm subsidy system, a change in immigration laws, repeal of state union shop bans, highway beautification and an increased vocational rehabilitation program.

Several money bills, including one for foreign aid, also await action.

Still Far Apart

Steel-Labor: One source inside the steel labor negotiations said the industry has added "a little" to its earlier money offers since coming to Washington, but he cautioned that the union and industry were still far from settlement. He didn't say how much was offered.

I. W. Abel, president of the AFL-CIO United Steelworkers Union, did not deny the report capital Monday by President Johnson, go into their fourth day of Washington negotiations which Bill D. Moyers, White House press secretary, said "have entered the stage of hard and tough bargaining."

The new strike deadline is 12:01 a.m. next Thursday.

Desertions Still High

Viet Nam troops: South Viet Nam's soldiers are deserting at the rate of nearly 5,000 a month, but that is less than half the rate for about three months early this year.

Pentagon sources who reported this said most of the desertions are from part time regional and home guard elements, rather than from the regular army. They were unable to say how many went over to the Viet Cong and how many simply returned to their homes.

But they saw the sharp drop as a hopeful sign, possibly indicating a higher morale among the South Vietnamese and a rising confidence in their eventual success.

Could Stretch Debate

Union Shop: A bill to repeal state laws which ban the union shop has been cleared for Senate debate — which opponents say could stretch on and on. They say 27 senators are ready to talk at length against the measure. Sponsors are talking about a two-week floor battle.

The Senate Labor Committee, rejecting Republican efforts to amend the bill, voted 12 to 3 to send it to the Senate late next week. The added time was allowed so the minority can report the reasons for its opposition.

The big fight will come on efforts to amend the bill to restrict union activities.

CAPITAL QUOTES

"I just don't know how I can give him up completely." — President Johnson, announcing he has persuaded former Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor to continue part-time as a White House consultant.

"We will be vigorous, amusing, avant garde; we will be the first with the latest, we will be current and contemporary." — John Chancellor, after taking the oath as new director of the Voice of America.

"It is a hazard entirely preventable by a personal decision not to smoke." — a Public Health Service booklet which describes cigarette smoking as one of the greatest health hazards of the century.

CAPITAL FOOTNOTES

The House has sent to the Senate a bill to authorize $787.5 million in the next four years to help schools turn out more physicians, dentists, nurses, osteopaths, pharmacists, optometrist and podiatrists. A House subcommittee on Far Eastern affairs announced it will hold closed hearings on a charge by Singapore Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew that he was offered a $3-million bribe in 1960 to keep secret the arrest of a CIA agent. The Senate Agriculture Committee dropped from an omnibus farm bill it is preparing a new dairy program passed by the House. Existing federal milk and dairy programs would continue in effect.

To Oppose deGaulle

PARIS (AP) — The former governor-general of French Algeria, Jacques Soustelle, says a new middle-of-the-road political force should be formed to defeat President Charles de Gaulle.

Soustelle, (a former cabinet member who later split with De Gaulle, said the new political group should run a candidate against the French president in the December elections.

Soustelle made his proposal in a weekly magazine which appeared today.

Soustelle, 53, has lived outside of France since 1961 after he and other French generals failed in an attempted takeover in Algeria.

Schine Chain Is Sold to Company From New York

NEW YORK (AP)—J. Myer Schine and his family have sold their $150 million hotel, theater and broadcasting empire to Realty Equities Corp. of New York City.

Schine said substantially all of his properties and investments and those of his sons, G. David and C. Richard, were included in the sale.

The holdings, under Schine Enterprises, Inc., include 11 hotels, 60 movie theaters, ocean front real estate in Florida, radio station WPTR in Albany and the community antenna system in Massena.

Schine started his business 48 years ago with a nickelodeon in Gloversville, where he and his family still maintain a home. The theater was torn down a few years ago.

In Johnstown, near Gloversville, the Internal Revenue Service filed a tax lien Aug. 26 for $59,316 against the 77-year-old businessman. The IRS said the sum remained unpaid after a demand for payment of federal income tax for 1964. It attaches real property to the extent of the amount of tax due.

Morris Karp, president of Realty Equities, said the firm plans to dispose of most of the Schine assets within the next few months and develop the property in Florida, at Palm Beach, Boca Raton and Ocean Ridge.

Both of Schine's sons will remain in executive positions with Realty Equities, handling Schine operations.

The Schine hotels include: The Ten Eyck, Albany; Queensbury, Glens Falls; Northampton Inn, Massena.

CARRIER STRIKE

Passing the ammunition is a never-ending task for ordnancemen supplying the Navy planes roaring off carrier decks on combat missions over Viet Nam. A carrier working party, left, transfers bombs from an ammunition ship under way in the South China Sea. A crewman, center, stacks unassembled rockets on the mess deck for transfer to magazines below. Bombs, missiles and rockets are brought up and stacked on the flight deck, right, just before loading for a strike.

Claims Violence May Spread All Through Carolina

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A national civil rights leader says demonstrations may spread from violence-stricken Plymouth into other sections of North Carolina, a Southern state with a record of good race relations.

Massed police made more arrests Wednesday in Plymouth as they sought to relieve racial tensions which city authorities blamed on the Ku Klux Klan and out-of-town thrill seekers.

Officers have arrested six persons since two white men were wounded in a street clash between whites and Negroes Tuesday night. The tensions grew out of Negro voter registration demonstrations which began more than two weeks ago in the fishing and paper mill town of 5,000 in eastern North Carolina.

Violence was touched off Tuesday night for the second time in a week when a group of Negroes walked past a crowd of whites on the main street. A few minutes earlier, Negro leaders, fearing trouble, had called off a protest march.

In Durham, Floyd McKissick, national chairman of the Congress of Racial Equality, said, "when Plymouth stops, it's going to be another town — you pick it. There are dozens of Plymouths in North Carolina."

Elsewhere on the racial scene, there were these developments:

An aide to Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. announced in Atlanta that King will go to Chicago and Los Angeles this fall in an effort to interest civil rights, ghetto and gang leaders in those cities in his nonviolent movement. King called the effort a "pilot project on problems facing Negroes in Northern ghettos."

In Natchez, Miss., city officials called off a scheduled Wednesday night meeting with representatives of the local Negro community and reset it for today.

One spokesman, who asked that his name be withheld, said the officials thought it best not to hold this type of meeting at night. Negro leaders were to meet with city officials to hear them answer the 12 desegregation demands drawn last Saturday at a Negro mass meeting. A Negro leader said there may be a street demonstration if the results of today's meeting are not acceptable to Negroes.

After a summer of violent racial turmoil, public schools in the troubled southeast Louisiana mill town of Bogalusa integrated quietly and peacefully.

The magnetic needle was known to the Chinese, but the nautical compass supposedly took on its modern form about A.D. 1300.

Monroe Board Is Early to Support Apportionment

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—A Republican-dominated Monroe County board of supervisors has approved a new county charter which includes as its major provision, reapportionment of the board.

The charter, approved with the help of Democrats 35-5 Wednesday, will be on the ballot in Rochester and Monroe County Nov. 2. It must be approved by majorities in both the city and the towns in a split referendum.

The action made Monroe one of the first counties in the state to come up with a formal redistricting plan in response to the U. S. Supreme Court's "one man-one vote" ruling.

While the court action had been aimed at state legislatures, it also was deemed applicable at the local level.

If approved, the new charter would create a 29-member county legislature to replace the present 43-member board of supervisors.

The new legislature would be picked by voters in November, 1966, to take office Jan. 1, 1967.

The plan would eliminate the posts of city supervisors, who now serve only as representatives of city wards at the county level.

If the new charter fails to gain voter-approval in November, the county board would have to develop another plan or toss the issue back to the courts.

RFK Transported To Child After SwimThroughSea

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—Boatswain Mate 1.C. Sam E. Harris, 26, described today hauling Sen. Robert F. Kennedy aboard a small Coast Guard cutter in 20-foot seas and 40-mile-an-hour winds off the Massachusetts coast.

Harris had received word at the Castle Hill Coast Guard station that the New York Democratic senator's daughter, Kathleen, 14, was injured—perhaps critically—when her horse fell on her Sunday during a Cape Cod horse show.

The Coast Guard said all efforts to reach Kennedy, seven of his children and friends aboard a yacht, Neris, in Rhode Island Sound failed because the yacht radio had been turned off.

Harris said he and his crew aboard a 30-foot craft finally reached them several miles off shore but the waves were so high he was unable to pull along side.

Kennedy, 39, then decided he would attempt to swim to the cutter despite the waves, occasionally reaching heights of 30 feet. That he was forced to dive from the yacht and make the swim was learned Wednesday night by the Washington Post, and confirmed today by Harris.

He said Kennedy took off his shirt, put on an orange floater vest, and swam for 32 seconds toward the cutter, which was then able to close in on him and pull him aboard.

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Appalachia program, which has a star role in President Johnson's "Great Society," received a subdued reception from a predominantly Republican greeting committee when it arrived in New York State this week.

The scene was the first meeting of representatives of the 13 Upstate counties that have been admitted to the plan of federal aid for areas with serious economic problems. They evidenced strong doubt that an average of $154,000 per county this year would make a dent in depression.

The local representatives were from counties with a combined enrollment of 262,673 Republicans to 147,919 Democrats.

Not only was the Appalachia program the work of the Democratic national administration, but the New York counties are in it as a result of the intensive work of Democratic Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Republican Gov. Rockefeller never was enthusiastic about New York participation in the plan.

Kennedy's insistence that a good-sized portion of the state was so bad off it needed the ministrations of a federal anti-poverty agency ran counter to the glowing reports the governor has been issuing for years on the state's economy.

This week's meeting was for preliminary discussions of the specific ways in which the 13 counties involved would receive the federal money.

But the federal money totals only a little more than $2 million for all the counties for all programs in the current fiscal year, an average of $154,000 for each.

Beyond reporting on how the $2.1 million breaks down into categories of projects—industrial development, land reclamation, etc. — Deputy Commerce Commissioner Ronald B. Peterson had few specific answers for the county representatives.

He said he would try to gain additional information when he attends a meeting this month of the Appalachia Regional Commission.

The representatives of the counties were interested, appeared frustrated at the lack of ready answers on details but displayed no marked enthusiasm because of the relatively small amount of money involved.

Some delegates commented that the money wouldn't go far.

Peterson agreed that the whole issue dealt with "a small amount of dollars."

"But we've got to take advantage of it," he said. "For every buck you get out of it, we've sent three or four dollars (in taxes) to Washington."

It somehow didn't sound like something that an avid partisan of the "Great Society" would say.

The moon is the earth's only natural satellite.

Would Use Savings On Water Resources

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Charles E. Goodell of New York suggests that money saved in the new U.S. coin system should go into a water resources development fund.

The Jamestown Republican introduced a bill in Congress Wednesday authorizing such a move. The anticipated revenue stems from the difference between the intrinsic value and the face value of coins.

Since silver will be eliminated from most coins under terms of a law passed this year, Goodell said the fund he proposed would accumulate $2.5 billion during the next three years.

House Republican leaders have backed Goodell's bill, although they once termed it illusory.

Two Teeners Killed

SIDNEY, N. Y. (AP) —Two teen-agers from Unadilla in Central New York have been killed and a third seriously injured in an automobile crash near Franklin.

Dead are Roscoe Ferrera, 18, and Clair Chase, 15, passengers in the automobile, which struck a tree off a state highway near Franklin Wednesday.

Duane R. Waldron, also of Unadilla, the driver, was reported in serious condition at Sidney Hospital.

Stuck in Chimney

WAYCROSS, Ga. (AP) — Answering cries for help, police and firemen found Alphonso Taylor, 30, firmly stuck halfway down the chimney of a two-story residence. Taylor, freed by tearing out part of the chimney, was jailed on charges of breaking and entering.

Bar Admits Negroes

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The Houston Bar Association has voted 1,097 to 321 to admit Negroes, says W. James Kronzer, association president. Dean Kenneth Tollett of the Texas Southern University School of Law said approximately 40 Negro attorneys are eligible to join the association.

Screvane Says He Is Front-Runner In Mayor Contest

NNEW YORK (AP) — City Council President Paul R. Screvane says preliminary results of a private poll show him holding about half the Democratic votes in his bid for the mayoral nomination.

The poll, taken by Oliver Quayle and Co. Inc., reportedly showed Comptroller Abraham D. Beame with one out of three votes. The other Democratic candidates, Rep. William F. Ryan and City Councilman Paul O'Dwyer, ran well behind.

As the mayoral campaign warmed up, Ryan called for changes in police interrogation methods. Rep. John V. Lindsay, the Republican and Liberal candidate, spoke out on the city teachers wage dispute.

Ryan said police should use closed circuit television in questioning suspects and an assistant district attorney should be present during interrogation of homicide suspects.

"In an overwhelming majority of cases it would no longer be just the policeman's word against that of the defendant," Ryan said.

Lindsay said the Board of Education has waited too long to negotiate with the AFL-CIO United Federation of Teachers, which is threatening to strike Sept. 13, first day of school.

"Realistic negotiations are extraordinarily difficult when the board refuses to negotiate until its budget has been allocated," Lindsay told a Brooklyn meeting.

He was stricken Wednesday while filming a segment of a new "Tammy" television series at Universal Studios.

Candidates Social Held in Ellenville

More than 80 persons attended a recent candidates' social held at the home of Mrs. Walter Griswold, Route 209, Ellenville, for John S. McBride, who seeks the Republican nomination for State Assembly, 110th District, and Stanley L. Voulelis, seeking the designation for State Senate, 43rd District.

McBride is opposed in the Sept. 14 primary by Attorney Louis B. Scheinman, Woodbourne attorney in the district embracing all of Sullivan County, four Ulster County townships, Rochester, Wawarsing, Shawangunk and Gardiner, and six Orange County townships.

Voulelis is opposed by Lloyd A. Newcombe, Catskill business man in the district embracing Ulster, Greene, Sullivan Counties and eight townships in Orange County.

The social was sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bruning of Phillipsport and Mrs. Ruth Olcott of Wurtsboro. Bruning is president of the Town of Mamakating Republican Club and Mrs. Olcott is Mamakating Republican Town chairman. Attending the social were Republican voters from the Town of Warwarsing in Ulster County, Town of Wallkill and the City of Middletown in Orange County and the Town of Mamakating in Sullivan County.

Both candidates emphasized the importance of a large primary vote in order to insure that the candidate selected is, in reality, a majority choice.

"My own research reveals that less than 30 per cent in Sullivan County voted in last year's primary," Voulelis said. "Obviously, only a very small percentage of the voters select your candidate under those circumstances."

Voulelis in his comments to the gathering noted that great voter participation in the selection also encourages the development of qualified aspirants to public office, thereby providing a better climate in politics.

"Voters who stay at home," Voulelis said, "help neither the candidates nor the party."

"Why, Howie! You don't have two left feet after all!"

Grandmother, 77, Going to College

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A 77-year-old grandmother will attend Cuyahoga Community College this fall on a senior citizen scholarship.

"I want to go to college so I can improve myself and gain a better understanding of what is going on in these changing times," Rosa Jane Davis said in an interview. "In so doing, maybe I can help someone else."

Mrs. Davis, a Negro, is the oldest of 34 persons in Greater Cleveland recently awarded senior citizen scholarships. The senior citizen scholarship idea was announced last spring and drew about 70 applicants, all required to be 60 years or older. Tuition, fees and books are provided by the college and a private firm (Revco Drug Co.).

Born on a farm in Madison County, Ga., Mrs. Davis came to Cleveland in 1923 after "my four sisters and three brothers were married."

"My main purpose in coming to Cleveland was to attend night school and further my education, but my work here was harder than I had been accustomed to and I found I couldn't work and go to school, too," she said.

She retired when she was 65 after jobs in school cafeterias. She now devotes most of her time to work in the St. John's African Methodist Church and her six grandchildren. A widow since 1937, she has lived with her daughter.

The schools she attended in her native Georgia "were not graded in my day," Mrs. Davis said, but she estimated her formal education was about equivalent to 9th grade.

Mailman Taking Dog-Bite Cases To City Fathers

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Mailman Eddie Rael wants the City Commission to put the bite on dog owners so their pets will stop putting the bite on letter carriers.

Rael was making his rounds last June when a large dog rushed out of a house and bit him on the leg. Rael had to stay off his feet for eight days.

Rael told the Albuquerque branch of the National Association of Letter Carriers there ought to be a law. He found out there is, but city figures show it's not enforced too closely.

Last year, Rael also discovered, 40 mailmen were bitten in this city of 310,000 population — about double the number from the previous year.

Rael was appointed chairman of the dog-bite committee for local letter carriers. The committee's aim is to have the city enforce animal control ordinances requiring dogs to be kept under restraint at all times.

"We're in jeopardy even if we do sign a complaint (against dog owners)," Rael said in an interview. "We have to frequent the place where we're bitten every day.

"I grew up with dogs but we had to be responsible for them."

Rael and the letter carriers took their case to the Albuquerque City Commission Tuesday night but had no opportunity to present their case.

"We'll go back next week," Rael said. "It may be we'll have to get national headquarters of the Letter Carriers Association to help us. This is a tough enough job; rain and hail and sleet and snow and all, without dog bites.

"Funny thing. But the day I went back on duty, I had to deliver a postage due letter and collect the postage. You know where? The same house I got bitten at."

Rael since has changed routes.

Backs Tax Incentive For Anti-Pollution

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Carleton J. King, R-N.Y., proposed today a tax incentive for businessmen who buy air and water pollution control equipment.

He said his bill would permit companies to deduct for tax purposes over three years the cost of such machinery. Depreciation on this equipment now can be deducted over a 20-year period.

Ginger in 2 Suits

NEW YORK (AP) — Actress Ginger Rogers has been named in two civil suits seeking more than $64,000. The suits were filed by a lawyer and a public relations man in connection with fees and expenses for a proposed film operation in Jamaica, West Indies.

Named with Miss Rogers were her husband, G. William Marshall, and the William Marshall Productions of Jamaica Ltd.

Lawyer Edward A. Martin of Princeton, N.J., sought $49,000 he claimed was owed for legal services. David M. Polland of Washington, a public relations man, asked $15,036.

Desertion Rate Drops by 50 PC, South Viet Army

By FRED S. HOFFMAN . .

WASHINGTON (AP) — The rate of desertions from South Viet Nam's armed forces has dropped by more than half from a high point early this year, Pentagon sources disclosed today.

This is considered a hopeful sign, possibly indicating an upswing in South Vietnamese morale and a rising confidence in the non-Communist cause.

The Pentagon refused to discuss the desertion rate. But knowledgeable sources said it is now down below 5,000 a month.

About 10,000 men a month were pulling out of the South Vietnamese armed forces for about three months early this year.

Although the desertion rate has been cut by more than half, it still represents a heavy drain on a force already stretched so thin that the U.S. troop commitment in Viet Nam has had to be increased heavily.

The desertion problem makes much tougher the job of building the South Vietnamese armed forces by another 100,000 men. The present strength stands at about 545,000.

U.S. authorities are hopeful that higher pay and reforms aimed at improving the lot of soldiers and their families will lower the desertion rate further.

Also, the national police are being strengthened, in part, to cope with the desertions from the armed forces.

U.S. officials said most desertions have been from part-time regional and home guard elements, rather than from the regular army.

Dear Abby . . .

Be On The Offense!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I know I'm not the only wife with this problem, so maybe if you printed this your answer could help countless others. I've been married for over 25 years. My husband and I are both over 50. We have children and grandchildren. The problem, of course, is my husband. He's good-looking, young-looking, in excellent health, and a hopeless woman chaser. (Not that he would be hard to catch.)

He makes no secret of his escapades, excepting me to forgive and forget and not to take them seriously. He says none of these affairs is serious and he "loves" only me. I'm not afraid of "losing" him, but I'm humiliated. I see no end to his behavior. I must admit he is kind, considerate, a good provider (though I work, too) and I do love him in spite of everything. What to do? Divorce him and live a lonely, unhappy life? Or just wait for old age?

EVE

DEAR EVE. DON'T divorce him—but don't condone his behavior either. Every time he steps out of line, raise the roof and let him know you are hurt, disgusted and humiliated. Punish him a little by being cool to him, but don't banish him to the couch or he'll have a good excuse to find a more comfortable bed. Many men stray because they really believe their wives don't care enough. Show him you care plenty. What do you have to lose?

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: When a group of people work together on a project, such as a committee formed for the purpose of revising by-laws, in what order should the names of these people be listed in the report? There was no official chairman or head. Thank you.

BURNED UP

..DEAR BURNED: It doesn't matter. They could be listed alphabetically, or according to age, height or body weight. But the fairest method would be to put all their names into a hat and draw lots. This is sometimes known as "spit in the ocean."

DEAR ABBY: I hope this will help parents who don't know when, how or if they should tell a child that he is adopted.

I am 16 years old and was adopted when I was a week old and have known it for as long as I can remember. I wouldn't want it any other way. Being adopted is an accepted part of my life. Like having brown hair and hazel eyes. My mother used to introduce me as her little "adopted" girl even before I understood what the word "adopted" meant. It has always made me feel special, not different.

If I had grown up believing that my parents were my "real" parents, and they later told me (or I found out) that they were not my real parents after all, I would have been shocked and confused whether I was 10 or 20 at the time.

Being adopted doesn't make any difference in the way I feel about my parents. If anything, I think it makes me love them more because I know they gave up a part of their lives to raise me and they didn't even have to. Thank you for letting me say this, Abby. I've kept it inside of me for a long time.

"ADOPTED"

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: When a boy breaks up with a girl does he have to give her a reason? Please print this as many other girls would like to know the answer, too.

WENT STEADY

DEAR WENT: No. And if the girl is wise, she won't ask. The reason is obvious. He doesn't want to go steady with HER any more.

Hints From Heloise

by Heloise Cruse

Dear Heloise:

I want to tell you of a novel tea a friend of mine just gave:

For several months, they had a serious illness in their home. During this time many friends, relatives and acquaintances had brought flowers.

Can you imagine the frustration when they tried to return a host of vases, casseroles, trays, plates, etc.?

At the "You Claim It" tea, the owners were able to identify their possessions and be properly thanked for their kindnesses.

It was a big success, and incidentally, I learned how to help more thoughtfully when such an occasion arises.

If possible, I use disposable containers, and if not, the dishes, etc., are marked with my name.

Elizabeth M. Ballew

• • •

Dear Heloise:

I have some flowers in vases on high mantles and shelves — which I cannot see into unless I get up on a stool — so, as I water these flowers, I place my finger right inside the top of the vase. When the water level in the vase reaches my finger, I know the vase is full.

I have never run the water over, and can stand on the floor to water them.

Mrs. T. S.

• • •

Dear Heloise:

How do YOU press garlic so that most of it doesn't stay in the presser?

A Reader

• • •

Dear Friend:

When I press a garlic bud, I never take off the ouside (peel?) before pressing it.

The hard, outside peel will prevent the soft meat of the garlic from getting into the garlic press pores.

I find it best to take a knife and cut off each end of the bud first. Here is the reason for this:

The juice will come out each end of the bud. (I find some garlic buds have more outside crust than others.)

Don't break your press. If you have an inexpensive one, try cutting off both ends of the bud first, then using your presser.

Heloise.

Dear Heloise:

I clean stainless steel in our building, and we use equal parts of linseed oil and kerosene. Apply it with a soft cloth and leave on. Or, if it seems oily, dry with another cloth.

The stainless steel fixtures will be easier to keep clean, even after water gets on them. All you have to do is dry them with another cloth without the oil mixture.

Jean

Dear Heloise:

When we bought a new car, we had regulation seat belts put in the back seat for our youngsters.

As the belts were too large for them, we bought two of those padded seats that restaurants used for children. The boys sit in those and then put the belts on. (If they are still a little too loose, you can put a pillow behind the child, and all is well.)

We also use these seats for the boys when they are eating their meals at home as they are too big (or too grown-up) for high chairs, and are too small for regular ones.

Mrs. R. D. Kovanda

Dear Heloise:

To give the effect of the popular button-down collar style on standard collared shirts, just sew a shirt button to each of the collar tips, and then sew on through the shirt.

Joan

• • •

The collar would open and be easier to iron if you would put half a snap on the back of it and the other half on the corresponding place on the shirt before sewing on the button. Don't you think so?

Astronauts Fly Back to Houston For Brief Visit

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Gemini 5 astronauts fly home to Houston, Tex., today for a joyous, but brief, reunion with their families.

L. Gordon Cooper Jr. and Charles Conrad Jr. are scheduled to leave by plane at 1 p.m. (EST) for the three-hour flight to Ellington Air Force Base, near Houston.

Their departure will end four days of intensive debriefings here on their record eight-day orbital journey.

Technical and medical experts have wrung everything possible out of the astronauts in general terms. At the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston, other specialists will keep them in seclusion another week, probing various aspects of the mission in deeper detail.

But before being spirited away, the astronauts were to be reunited with their wives and children.

Trudy Cooper and the two teen-age Cooper daughters and Jane Conrad and the four rambunctious Conrad boys planned to be at Ellington to greet the astronauts.

The Coopers and Conrads will ride together in automobiles the few miles to the center, where the families will have some time to be alone.

A spokesman said their privacy "will be a matter of minutes, certainly not hours."

Officials originally said Cooper and Conrad would not be able to see their families until the 11-day isolation period ended. But the excellent physical condition of the pilots apparently prompted them to relent a bit.

After the initial meeting, however, Cooper and Conrad will not be able to see their wives for another week.

The seclusion was ordered so the astronauts could discuss the flight while details were still fresh in their minds and without outside interference. Officials said much valuable information was lost after the Gemini 4 flight because astronauts James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II were rushed too quickly into welcome-home celebrations.

Hearing on 6 Charges

A driver booked on six motor vehicle charges Wednesday, is due for city court hearing Sept. 7. He is David E. Burgher, 25, of 37 Elmendorf Street, who was charged with driving an unregistered vehicle with no proof of insurance, lack of inspection, failure to change address and making unneccessary smoke. Hearing was put over today to permit him time to obtain counsel. He was cited by officers Otto Short and George Barringer.

Try to Identify Man Killed on 9W Near West Point

Orange County authorities and State Police today were trying to establish the identity of a man who was killed when his car went out of control on Route 9W and crashed into a rock wall between Cornwall and West Point.

Authorities said the lone occupant of the vehicle was burned beyond recognition when the wrecked vehicle burst into flames. Early reports indicated the victim might be a serviceman stationed at West Point.

The death was Orange County's 49th highway fatality of 1965.

Authorities were checking dental records in an effort to determine identification of the dead man.

Drag Lake Ontario For Father, Child

KINGSTON, Ont. (AP) — Dragging operations were resumed here today for the bodies of a 37-year-old New York State tourist and his 12-year-old son, who drowned Wednesday in Lake Ontario off Kingston harbor.

The two were identified as Dale Thompson, an Almond, N.Y., insurance company owner, and his son Dale Jr.

The double drowning occurred when the boy toppled from a cabin cruiser 50 yards off the westerly tip of nearby Cedar Island. Police said the father plunged into the water to save the boy, but never surfaced.

Professional Arts First Offices to Be Ready in Fall

Construction of the first professional Arts Building in the history of Kingston, is well under way under the auspices of Pine Street Professional Park, Inc. Plans have been readied to complete the first building for occupancy by seven Kingston area doctors and dentists by late fall.

The building site, conveniently located near the uptown area on Pine Street between St. James and Franklin Streets, was recently purchased by the Pine Street Professional Park, Inc., from the Old Dutch Church. The site was formerly that of the Pine Street cemetery.

President of the corporation is Dr. Hamilton Boyd, Drs. Kurken Kirk and Herbert F. Schwartz are vice presidents; Dr. William B. Dean, dentist is secretary; Dr. James R. Clarkin, treasurer. Other doctors who will occupy the center are Dr. Paul G. Hoverman and Dr. Arthur Harder

The initial building will be erected by Marshall Erdman & Associates, Inc., of Madison, Wisc., a firm specializing in the creation of professional parks. There is ample space available for three similar buildings on the three-acre site.

Encompassing 10,000 square feet, the building will feature modern central heating, air conditioning and special feautres for patient comfort. In addition, parking facilities will be provided in an attractively landscaped area.

The professional building is a cooperative venture of six local doctors and two dentists. Additional office space will be available for professional use on long-term leases. Each suite will be designed and decorated to meet the special requirements of the individual tenant and his patients.

Construction of the buiding is being financed by the Kingston Trust Company.

Rocky Can't See Tax Keeping GOP Away From Gain

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Gov. Rockefeller said today he did not think the recent enactment of the state sales tax would hurt Republican changes of regaining control of both houses of the State Legislature.

The governor told a news conference that he thought the GOP legislators had "faced realistically the needs of the people."

His comments followed a speech in which he accused the federal government of supplying "a drop in the bucket" of funds needed to combat water-pollution.

"I am unhappy about the sales tax," he said, but added that it was the only recourse.

Asked whether he thought the tax had resulted in a decline in his popularity with the people, Rockefeller said:

"People along the way are very friendly."

"If you want to consider public life you just can't do the popular thing. . ."Your conscience dictates you have to do the tough thing sometimes to meet the needs of the people. I feel I have done my duty as best I could."

The governor and Mrs. Rockefeller then left for a tour of the State Exposition here.

Rockefeller appealed to voters Wednesday to approve a $1-billion bond issue as the key to his $1.7-billion program to eliminate water-pollution in the state by 1970.

GE to Make Move

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—The General Electric Co. will move its production of portable black-and-white television sets from Syracuse to a new facility in Portsmouth, Va.

The move, to be made in February, 1966, will provide about 650 new jobs in the Portsmouth area, the company said today.

Treated After Mishap

Helene Schneider, 52, of 2 Main Street, was treated at Kingston Hospital for treatment of face injuries after a two-car mishap early Wednesday afternoon at Clinton Avenue and Main Street. She drove the one car and the other was driven by Josephine Contini, 39, of Main Street, Esopus. Officer Joseph Kivlan investigated.

200 Workers Out

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (AP) —About 200 production workers failed to report today for the first shift at a department of the Alco Products Inc. plant in a protest involving incentive pay.

A management spokesman said that work continued in other parts of the plant as usual, and that no talks with United Steel Workers Union, which represents the workers, had been scheduled.

House Trims Only $75 Million From Foreign Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $3,285,000,000 foreign aid appropriation bill emerged today from the House Appropriations Committee with the smallest cut in the aid program's 18-year history.

The $75 million trimmed by the committee from the $3.36-billion program authorized by Congress only last week compared with the previous low of $198 million cut from the 1952 program. Last week's bill fixed the limit of new financing for the present fiscal year at a level of about $96 million below what President Johnson requested.

In addition to financing the foreign aid program, the money bill also would provide funds for several other activities, including the Peace Corps, boosting its over-all total of $4,001,453,000.

Troops Patrolling Mississippi Town; Violence Feared

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

National Guard troops moved into Natchez, Miss., today after a Negro leader warned of growing racial tension and a Ku Klux Klan spokesman said his men were armed.

About 100 Guardmen appeared at a motel near Natchez for breakfast. The security buildup came as city officials prepared to meet with Negroes about desegregation demands following the boobytrap bombing of a civil rights leader in his car last week.

The bombing victim, George Metcalfe of the NAACP, was in fair condition with leg, arm and face injuries from the blast Friday in a parking lot.

Negro demands include denunciation of the klan by the city, desegregation of public facilities, equal job opportunities and police escorts for Negro funerals.

Women, Young Children Found In Temple Raid

NEW YORK (AP) — Police raided the temple of a self-ordained clergyman Wednesday and found 11 women and about 50 children living there.

They arrested the clergyman, Devernon LeGrande on charges of possessing two revolvers, a hunting knife and marijuana.

Three of the women made accusations — one claiming she was held at the church against her wishes and two others claiming they were assaulted.

LeGrande lived at the church —called St. John's and of undetermined denomination— and so did the 11 women and 50 children. All involved are Negroes.

In addition to the charges against the preacher, his 16-year-old son, Clovell, a bridegroom of two weeks, was charged with attacking a detective with an 8-inch dagger and with possession of the weapon.

Petit Larceny Conviction

Willie Mae Adams, 39, of 45 Lander Street, Newburgh, found guilty of petit larceny after recent city court trial, was sentenced to 30 days in jail today. The charge was lodged last June. Doesn't Want Her Son to Serve in Intergrated Unit

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Mrs. Evelyn Gaillot, excommunicated from the Catholic Church for her segregation stands, says to put her 19-year-old son into an integrated U.S. Marine Corps unit would violate his constitutional rights to freedom of religion.

Local Draft Board 155 has set a hearing this Friday on Mrs. Gaillot's request on behalf of her son, Kenneth.

He balked when told he would have to take a physical on an integrated basis.

His mother said she had requested wirtten assurance that her son would be assigned to a segregated unit should be enlist in the Marines.

A spokesman for Marine headquarters in Washington said there were no segregated units in the corps.

Mrs. Gaillot said her son will enlist anyway if the board turns her down. "Kenneth wants to serve his country, and at the same time obey his religion. If they say he can't serve in a segregated unit, he will enlist anyway," she said.

She was excommunicated in 1962 for publicly differing with the church over school desegregation.

Formal Surrender Of Japan Took Place 20 Yrs. Ago

The ceremony, aboard the battleship Missouri in Tokyo Bay 20 years ago today, Japanese time, concluded Gen. Douglas A. MacArthur said solemnly "these proceedings were closed."

Nineteen days earlier, on Aug. 14, 1945, Japan had surrendered unconditionally, ending the war that began with the Japanese sneak attack on Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941.

When Johnny First Goes Off to School

By PAT KING
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK—(NEA) — For two and a half million American youngsters the first school bell to ring this September means a rude break away from home—the first time that they will be separated from their mothers. Life will never be the same for them again.

But actually, it's a toss-up as to whether the wrench will be harder on mommy or her baby.

The way a mother prepares herself for her child's first trip to kindergarten can determine how he will face school — and possibly life away from home—forever after.

So says Dr. Marjorie Freidberg, professor of early childhood education at New York University.

If a mother has apprehensions about putting Johnny on the school bus, the chances are that he will, too.

"There has to be a period of adjustment for mother and child," says Dr. Freidberg. "The child must realize that his mother is not 'getting rid' of him. And at the same time, the mother must realize that Johnny may be defensive about school and is only putting on an act when he orders his mother to leave."

The mother should remember that No. 1 on the getting-children-ready-for-school list should not be wearing apparel but rather wearing attitudes.

It's up to the mother to foster good relations between the classroom and child. And most school systems agree that the child has to learn to transfer his feelings from the parent to the teacher.

Dr. Friedberg says "It's important that the child face reality and know that this is the teacher—not the parent—in the classroom.

"Both the parent and the teacher need to be accepted. Neither is in the enemy camp. There has to be a liaison betwen the two. And it's necessary that the child be aware of it."

Under the ideal situation, Dr. Freidberg says, the child's first teacher should explain the program and operation of the school.

It would also help if the teacher could visit the homes of the apprehensive children and parents. In doing so, she would familiarize herself with the child's background, family, pets, etc. — thus demonstrating that she is a friend, not an enigma.

Ideally, there would not be many clinging mothers or frightened children.

However, the ideal is not readily achieved in today's crowded schools. But there are several ways a mother can help her child prepare to step out into the world when the school bell rings.

For mothers of children off to school for the first time, Dr. Freiberg suggests the following guides to keep in mind:

Take a trip to school before the first day and explore the route your child will travel.

When you actually do begin the first day of school, don't give your child the feeling that you are about to deposit him in a lion's den.

Prepare him beforehand by telling him what to expect from school. Explain that there will be a time for play and a time for routine activities. Get him ready for some regimentation.

Plan to spend some time in school on the first day. It will enable your child to feel more comfortable about walking into a new situation.

Have conferences with the teacher as often as you think necessary. Orientation programs are invaluable to both parents and teachers. And educators today look to parents for participation in the school's program.

Jessel Keeps Busy Schedule

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—George Jessel was wearing undershorts when he came to the door of his modest home in suburban Reseda.

"When I realized I was home only three days a month, I sold my other houses and moved out here," he explained as he paced through the small rooms. "All I needed was some place where I could change clothes and hang my photographs."

Wallpaper is unnecessary in the Jessel home. Whereever you look there are plaques, trophies, framed letters and photos. He has a picture and autograph of everyone from David Ben-Gurion to Jayne Mansfield. Included are all the recent U.S. presidents. Elizabeth Taylor and most of her husbands.

As he roamed through the gallery, Jessel seemed impatient to don his clothes and fly off to Miami Beach or Haifa to address a luncheon or plant a tree. He took a dip in the pool instead.

He returned in dry trunks and displayed a four-inch scar on his left thigh.

"Picked that up in Viet Nam just recently," he explaind. "Snipers. We were coming off a plane and they opened up from across a rice paddy. Alo picked up a bug of some kind. Can't shake it."

Jessel sat briefly in a contour chair to explain some of his other activities.

"I'm going to be Jackie Gleason's talent ambassador," he said. "I did two or three shows with him last year and they were so successful that he asked me back for 13 this season. But I'll have something more to do than get up and say, 'Two Jews got on a streetcar. . .

"I'll be going to 13 different American cities to find talent to appear on Gleason's show. I'll come on and say, 'This is so-and-so from Chicago, and I think she's got a great future as a singer.'

"Then I'll say, 'Two Jews got on a streetcar. . . .'"

Jessel also plans to tour with a new act composed of himself, Sophie Tucker and Ted Lewis.

"We did fantastic business in the East," he remarked. "It's amazing when you consider that Sophie is 82, Ted is 77, and I am 67; together we're older than the United States."

Another enterprise is a public relations firm he heads. Among his clients are Joseph E. Levine's Embassy Pictures, Israel, a distillery and a sausage concern.

"Yes, I'm busy now," he said, "but it was tough for me to get back. You know I quit performing for 11 years when I was producing movies. Regret it? No. My only regret was that I didn't quit after I had made 10 hits. I made eight flops after that, and I was dead.

"Yes, other performers have had their highs and lows. But they didn't go broke in between, as I did. Take Jolson. There was a time before 'The Jolson Story' when he couldn't get work. But he still ended up with six million dollars."

Card Sense Plus Timing Wins

By JACOBY & SON
1965 Vanderbilt Cup Winners
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Edgar Kaplan, the author of "Winning Contract Bridge Complete" and numerous other books on bridge, and Norman Kay are one of the finest pairs in the world.

In common with most experts, they like to bid as illustrated by Norman's one diamond overcall with only 10 high card points and not much of a suit.

Nevertheless, it told Edgar what to lead against three no-trump and Edgar opened the eight. The deuce was played from dummy and now it was up to Norman to make the first fine defensive play of the hand. He played the nine of diamonds — not the king.

South was in with the jack and led a low club toward dummy and now it was up to Edgar to make a winning play. He did this by rising with his acce of clubs. Edgar led the four of diamonds next. Dummy ducked again but this time Norman was ready with the king. Another diamond lead set up two diamond tricks for Norman while he still held the king of clubs as an entry.

There doesn't seem to be much to this hand, but it really is worth a lot of study. You should note that Norman's play at trick one might have cost him a trick if Edgar had been unable to gain the lead with a club but Norman took that chance. You should also note that if Edgar had not played second hand high on the first club lead that three no-trump would have rolled home.

It required the combination of the low diamond play at trick two to get the diamonds established while Norman still held an entry.

Demos to Push Half-Dozen Measures By End of Month

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic congressional leaders have decided to jettison minimum wage, congressional redistricting and unemployment compensation legislation in their drive for a late September adjournment.

This decision, reflected in Senate Democratic Policy Committee action, apparently has at least the tacit approval of President Johnson. The three major measures to be pigeonholed will remain alive for action in 1966.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said in an interview the party policy committee has called for Senate action on a half dozen major measures before the current session ends. These include the $4.7-billion higher education aid bill on which Senate debate begins today.

Other Measures

Other measures the committee wants pushed to a vote, Mansfield said, include bills to repeal state union shop bans, revise the farm subsidy system, abolish the national origin quotas on immigration, step up vocational rehabilitation and beautify highways. Included also are the regular money bills, with the always controversial foreign aid bill among them.

A proposed pay increase for federal civilian employes was not on the priority list. Action on it seems to depend on whether sponsors lower their sights to levels acceptable to Johnson.

The minimum wage measure, which would expand coverage to 7.2 million more workers, is jammed up because Johnson has taken no position on House committee action to raise the federal minimum from $1.25 to $1.75 an hour. Some legislators think its passage in the 1966 election year would leave its benefits fresh in the minds of low-income voters.

The congressional redistricting bill, passed by the House, has had scant Senate attention. Neither house has shown any inclination to act on Johnson's proposal for standardization of state unemployment benefits.

The Senate policy group added the highway beautification bill to its list of priority legislation largely because Johnson repeatedly reported to congressional leaders that Mrs. Johnson keeps after him to get it passed.

The farm bill has had heavy going in the Senate Agriculture Committee but Chairman Allen J. Ellender, D-La., said he believes the group is near an agreement on it.

The House-passed immigration measure temporarily is snarled in a dispute over whether the Senate Judiciary Committee is going to send to the calendar a proposed constitutional amendment on state legislative reapportionment.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, sponsor of the amendment, has blocked committee action on the immigration measure until he can get assurances that this reapportionment proposal will go to the calendar for action next year.

Cong Celebrating Ho's Power-Grab Of 20 Years Ago

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

In this important anniversary week for North Viet Nam, its regime acts like a gambler reaching for the ace up his sleeve—the potential for trouble among influential Buddhists and intellectuals in South Viet Nam.

The North's propaganda hammers at this restlessness in an obvious attempt to activate and enlarge a political warfront in the South's cities, thus "attacking the enemy's rear" in support of Communist forces.

Infiltration a Factor

The success of the effort would depend upon the extent to which Communist agents have infiltrated and influenced the South's restive elements.

Exactly 20 years ago, Sept. 2, 1945, Ho Chi Minh appeared in Hanoi's Ba Dinh Square and proclaimed a "Democratic Republic of Viet Nam." The event heralded two decades of warfare in Indochina.

In many Western eyes at the time, "Uncle Ho" was a nationalist patriot and reformer, a fighter against the Japanese wartime occupation and against the returning French colonial power. Today, North Vietnamese propaganda describes Ho's strategy of that time as "clever association of the experiences of the Russian October revolution and those of the Chinese revolution."

Soviet Parallels

North Viet Nam's Communists call the events leading to the Sept. 2 proclamation "the August revolution." A little more than a week ago they directed propaganda appeals to their collaborators and sympathizers in the South to adopt the same tactics.

It may be just coincidence, but the past week brought a rash of demonstrations in the South similar to the one in Hue over the weekend involving 3,000 Buddhists and another at Da Nang, where the U.S. Marines have their most important base. There are also evidences of resurgent student restlessness in Saigon.

Hanoi propaganda urges Communists and their sympathizers to exploit all possibilities, "political, military, economic and cultural."

Like Mao Tze-tung's Communist revolution in China, the Vietnamese one began in rural areas. Hanoi's spokesmen say the Viet Cong now control four-fifths of the countryside and 10 million people. Thus, they find it is time to bring the war to the cities in whatever forms possible.

TV Reviews, Best Bets

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Sen. George Murphy seems to have started something by attributing part of his 1964 success at the California polls to his good-guy image on television rerun movies.

Ronald Reagan, who may not always get the girl but is rarely the villain in vintage films still on TV, currently is a serious prospect for California's Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Simple addition suggests that if old movies seen by comparatively small audiences can help elect a candidate, a fellow whose show has a high Nielsen rating ought to be swept into office by a landslide.

Steve Allen, a star of a network show ("I've Got a Secret") in Nielsen's list of the 20 most popular programs, is reportedly thinking seriously about running for a soon-to-be vacated congressional seat.

Dan Blocker, who plays a bumbling strongman named Hoss in "Bonanza," also talks about running for public office. And apparently his interest in politics is real.

Robert Vaughn, a supersecret agent in "The Man From U.N.C.L.E." has a passion for politics second only to his love of acting. During the last campaign he worked for Pierre Salinger's election.

If popularity with the public were all that is needed to win votes, Blocker would be a shoo-in for the office of his choice. "Bonanza" is consistently rated as the nation's most popular television show.

Steve Allen's public image might work against him. He has a reputation as a keen wit and sharp satirist. Practical politicians have been leary of witty intellectuals since the second defeat of Adlai E. Stevenson.

Season Ends With Party at Tongore Park

The summer season at Tongore Park will close with a party for all swimming students Saturday starting 11 a. m.

There will be water races and games for parents who wish to participate. Lunch will be served to all swimming students at 1 p. m. as guests of the Recreation Commission. From 3 p. m. until 6 p.m. the Staccatos will entertain free of charge.

The water exercises will be dispensed with if the weather is inclement. The public may attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Matthew Spireng have advised that the beach and swimming facilities will be under new management starting April, 1966. Official opening will be on or about June 15. There will be floats, docks, and a roped area for small children.

Life guards will be in attendance from 10 a. m. until 9 p. m. daily, Sunday and holidays.

Those having season tickets may avail themselves of the services of a swimming instructor who will be in attendance from date of opening. Registration will be during the first three weeks of the season. Facilities will include bath houses, showers and a picnic area with refreshment stand, tables and fireplace.

Cites $290 Million at Casinos

Move to Nevada Successful For Enterprising Banker

By BILL STALL

RENO, Nev. (AP) — As a Philadelphia banker, Stuart B. Webb used to spend his leisure hours fox hunting.

He's found no fox hunting since moving to Nevada to be president of the state's second largest bank.

Webb, at 40, already has filled a heart's desire by becoming top officer of the Nevada Bank of Commerce, with 13 branches throughout the state and assets of $95.6 million.

Webb was born, reared and educated in the East. He moved to Reno in April as administrative vice president and became president July 29.

Why did he come?

"I was looking for a situation that would lead to a top spot in the banking business. This one came to my attention, so I seized it. It's always been my heart's desire to be a bank president."

Webb did have some qualms about moving from the old, established eastern financial world to Nevada, the only state with casino gambling.

Casinos reported gross winnings of more than $290 million during 1964.

Casinos have an excellent cash flow, Webb says. "Their business is cash. Very little credit is involved in it. Ready short-term credit depends on the cash-flow analysis and this comes up quickly."

Nevada has a newer, lustier economy than the East, Webb says.

"As a result, I think the banks extend more credit to a particular customer than would fit the pattern in the East."

But growth has created a greater demand for capital than Nevada banks can meet, so a large amount of building financing still comes from the East, Webb says.

"The attractive thing here is the high interest rate pattern. It's 20 to 25 per cent higher than in the East. We get a standard rate of 7 per cent on loans compared to 5½ per cent in the East."

Webb and his wife have three children, Peter, 15; Nancy, 8, and Scott, 5.

Webb is a native of Washington, D.C., who was graduated from Lehigh University in 1950. He did graduate work at the University of Pennsylvania and Rutgers before joining Provident National Bank in Philadelphia.

He worked his way up and then became an executive of the National Bank of Pottstown, Pa.

Baby of Measles Victim Wearing Glasses Already

TROY, N. Y. (AP) —Grace Bump occasionally has trouble with her eyeglasses — her fingers get caught under the rims.

But that's probably not unusual for a five-months old girl.

And Grace, who was born with cataracts in both eyes, is becoming accustomed to waring the pink-framed specs.

Grace, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bump, of Troy, had cataracts, doctors say, as the result of a her mother's suffering German measles during pregnancy.

The cataracts were removed by surgeons at St. Mary's Hospital here a month and a half ago, and two weeks later — at the age of four months — she was fitted with glasses.

Doctors say that Grace never will have normal vision, but her focus and sight have improved already.

Indian Forecaster Sees Good Weather

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — British Columbia residents who believe in Dominic Charlie can breathe easier.

Last year, the elderly weather prophet of the Squamish Indian tribe looked at the leaves and decided from their color it would be a bad winter.

British Columbia was buried in snow which tied up traffic and vital services and drove some suburbanites to move into downtown hotels last winter.

Charlie looked at the leaves again Wednesday.

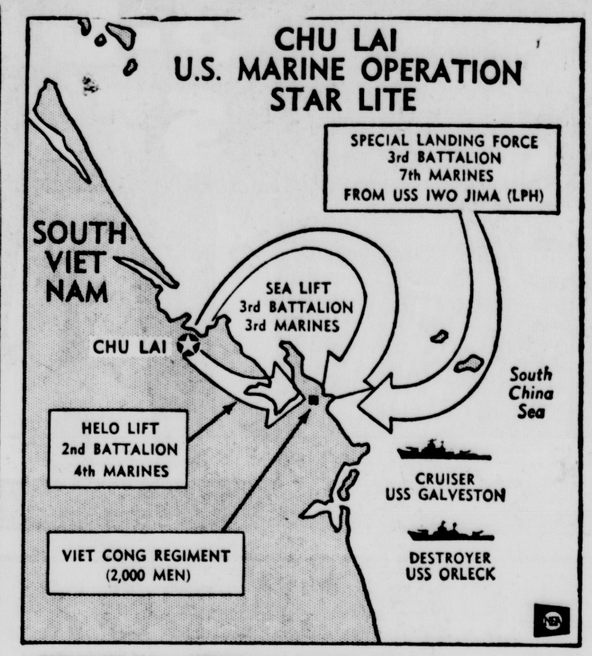

"It's gonna be mild," he said.

To Drop Dairy Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Agriculture Committee has agreed to drop a proposed new dairy program from the omnibus farm bill now before Congress.

The House, - approved program, dropped by the committee Wednesday had been proposed for 75 federal milk marketing areas throughout the nation.

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., said, under the Senate's plans, existing federal milk and dairy programs would continue to operate.

SHADOW OF ACTIONS TO COME—This Newsmap illustrates the classic maneuver employed by the U. S. Marines in their recent assault on a Viet Cong troop concentration on Chu Lai peninsula in South Viet Nam. The Marines used all the modern weapons of land, sea and air warfare to encircle the Red guerrillas with sweeping pincers movements. This successful maneuver, with modifications dictated by local conditions, may be the forerunner of similar actions against Red staging areas. In addition to the units listed on the map, the U. S. landing team of 3,200 ground combat personnel included the 2nd Battalion, 12th Marines (Artillery) and the 1st Marine Air Wing. The Army furnished armed helicopters and observation planes and other amphibious ships included USS Bayfield, Talladega, Cabildo, Point Defiance and the Vernon City.

Professor for Viet Cong, Puts Spice Into Election

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — "Those of you who know me know that I am a Marxist and a Socialist. Therefore I do not fear or regret the impending Viet Cong victory in Viet Nam. I welcome it."

With those words by a Rutgers University professor at a Viet Nam "teach-in" April 23, a chill wind from the cold war blew into New Jersey's gubernatorial election, which had been a solemn but colorless discussion of such things as taxes, highway plans and education policy.

State Sen. Wayne Dumont Jr., an underdog Republican candidate looking for the isue to end 12 years of Democratic reign, charged a state university had no right to keep on its payroll a professor who expressed such sentiments.

The university Board of Governors made two reviews of the criticism of Prof. Eugene Genovese, 35, and refused to fire him. It said he kept his political views out of his history classes.

Democratic Gov. Richard J. Hughes, favored to win re-election after his upset victory four years ago, refused to overrule the Board of Governors. Academic freedom prevented it, he said.

A two-man legislative committee made an inconclusive investigation.

Then followed letters to editors, resolutions by veterans organizations, and formation of committees for and against Genovese or academic freedom. The election campaign, not even officially under way, suddenly had a fiery issue.

The center of the controversy is a professor whose specialty is 19th century history of the South. A book of his entitled "The Political Economy of Slavery" is due for publication next month. His superiors at Rutgers rate him a well-trained scholar, conscientious, agreeable and cooperative.

He has admitted being a teenaged Communist. He said he was expelled by the party in 1950 a few months before the Korean War started and has signed the standard nonsubversive oath required of state university professors.

Two years ago he wrote a book review criticizing a Communist author for a retreat from Marxism. A party organ retorted by accusing Genovese of being opposed to peaceful coexistence, accepting nuclear war and of generally favoring Red China and Albania over the Soviet Union.

To Aid Retiring Veterans in New Assistance Plan

Retiring military personnel in New York State are being helped in their transition to civilian life through a special assistance program being administered by the State Employment Service, an arm of the State Labor Department's Division of Employment.

The objective of the program, according to Alfred L. Green, executive director of the division, is to help retiring military personnel find civilian jobs and facilitate their adjustment from military to civilian life.

The State Employment Service is accomplishing this objective, Green said, through employment orientation, counseling, testing and job placement assistance for each military retiree.

The program is divided into two parts—group orientation and individual employment assistance. The first part consists of a comprehensive orientation briefing conducted at various military installations in the State. The second part involves individual career counseling, testing and job-placement assistance at the military installation or local offices of the State Employment Service.

The initial briefing, usualy held 12 to 18 months prior to the scheduled or anticipated retirement date to give the retiree sufficient time to plan his post-retirement career, includes up-to-date information on labor area conditions, the transfer of military skills to civilian occupations, and general problem areas which may be encountered in beginning a "second career" as a civilian.

Green said that military personnel stationed in New York State who plan to retire within the next 18 months should contact their base personnel officer for details about employment assistance available from the State Employment Service.

He said those persons who have already retired from military service and are seeking jobs should register with the local office of the State Employment Service.

Green said that employers who wish to look into this source of potential employees should also visit or call their local State Employment Service office.

He noted that there are now about 96,000 men and women retiring from the military service each year, and that the average retiree is in his early 40's. There are already some 400,000 military retirees, and that figure is expected to increase sharply over the next 15 years to over a million.

The State Employment Service's program is a nationwide cooperative effort between the U. S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Employment Security, affiliated State Employment Service offices, and the Department of Defense.

The program was prompted by the growing number of career military personnel retiring each year and by preliminary information from a federal study of a group of May 1964 military retirees which indicates that about 17 per cent of 504 officers and 21 per cent of 1,444 enlisted men studied were still unemployed six months after they were separated from the military services.

Sealab 2 Group Keep Close Watch On Hurricane

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP)—Officials of Sealab 2 are keeping a close watch today on a hurricane moving up the coast of Baja California.

The storm was about 450 miles southeast of La Jolla Wednesday, but officials believe it won't cause trouble for the underwater living experiment.

The Weather Bureau said the storm, packing winds of up to 78 miles per hour, probably will not reach Southern California.

But at the same time they said the hurricane, Emily, was closer than any other potentially hazardous storm in many years.

Of primary concern was the influence a heavy storm might have on the Berkone, the support ship moored over the Sealab capsule 1,000 feet from shore.

Communications, power and other support facilities for the Sealab would be disrupted if a storm pushed the Berkone away from the project site, and the divers would have to be brought to the surface.

Ten aquanauts are spending 15 days on the bottom at a depth of 205 feet in the test of underwater endurance. Their home is the 12x58-foot Sealab capsule.

Cited for Driving With Unsafe Tires

After his car went out of control on Main Street, Napanoch, at 12:30 a. m. today, Kenneth Curry, 20, of Grahamsville, was cited by State Trooper J. E. Kelly, Leeds sub-station, on a charge of driving with unsafe tires.

Trooper R. R. Brooks said Curry told Trooper Kelly that he was driving west on Main Street when he fell asleep. His car went off the left side of the pavement and crashed into a utility pole.

Curry sustained lacerations of the chin and injuries of the right knee and foot, troopers reported.

Two Press Merger For Their Railroads

NEW YORK (AP)—The presidents of the Pennsylvania and the New York Central railroads say the proposed merger of the Chesapeake & Ohio and Norfolk & Western railroads makes the long-pending merger of their own two lines all the more imperative.

Pennsylvania President Stuart Saunders and New York Central President Alfred E. Perlman issued a joint statement Wednesday saying the new proposal "makes it absolutely necessary that the PRR-NYC merger be approved at an early date."

This merger is currently awaiting final action by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Steel Dispute Latest Example

Americans Ignore Real Free Enterprise If Danger Looms

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Free enterprise — up to a point. The general welfare comes first. This country has moved a long way from the myth of a truly free enterprise system.

The latest example is President Johnson's intervention in the steel dispute which, if it became a prolonged strike, would damage the economy and therefore most Americans.

Even in their earliest days Americans loved the free competition slogan while they made a joke of it.

In their first attempt at union under the Articles of Confederation — from 1781 to 1789 when the colonies became states with a central government — the individual states were entranced with the go-it-alone idea.

Each considered itself sovereign. The central government, without a president or courts, had only a Congress where the representatives were more like ambassadors than representatives.

The central government couldn't impose taxes or tariffs. The states set up their own tariffs, particularly against one another, to protect their residents from outside competition.

They were whizzing toward disaster, recognized it, set up the present government, and, in the first Congress, passed a tariff act to protect Americans from foreign competition.

Through most of American history presidents rejected the idea of government responsibility for the general welfare even while the government was giving new railroads land and subsidies.

One president vetoed a bill to help the insane poor, saying it would make the poor only more hopeless and dependent. Another vetoed a bill to help drought-stricken farmers, saying: "Though the people should support the government, the government should not support the people."

The latter happened in 1887, the very year in which Congress took one of its most far-reaching steps by creating the Interstate Commerce Commission to put controls on what railroads could charge.

It was a pioneer in the vast system of government controls of today. But this happened at the very moment when big business showed how little stomach it had for truly free competition by creating trusts.

In this same period millions of Americans who never heard of Herbert Spencer, the British philosopher, were his disciples and his victims by absorbing his belief in the devil take the hindmost.

In this view the poor were poor because they were inferior and the rich rich because they were superior.

But while the country still followed this rugged individualism idea, the Germans had set up unemployment pay (almost 60 years ahead of this country) and the British social security (more than 20 years ahead of this country).

Even President Herbert Hoover, a humane man, as late as 1932 couldn't bring himself to accept the idea the government should give direct help to the impoverished.

But the disaster of depression made Americans face what they had been tardy to acknowledge, although throughout history individual groups had been seeking special benefits: That the government not only had a responsibility for the general welfare but should assert it. Then, for the first time, in 1946 Congress said so in the employment act of that year. The great change came with the New Deal.

Welfare programs, established then, have been expanded enormously. And government really butted in on the free enterprise relations between management and labor with the Wagner Act of 1935 and the Taft-Hartley Act of 1947.

The former compelled employers to deal with employes' unions and the latter, in the case of big industries, empowered the government to get an injunction to delay a strike at least 80 days.

Presidents Harry S. Truman, Dwight D. Eisenhower, John F. Kennedy and now Johnson all intervened to prevent big, damaging strikes.

So, while Americans still pay lip service to the idea of truly free enterprise, they ignore it when it might damage the general welfare.

Ship Crews Return After 78-Day Lull

NEW YORK (AP) — Crews return today to ships that had been strikebound for 78 days, signaling the end of one of America's longest and costliest maritime walkouts.

Deck and radio officers, who had removed their picket lines Monday, voted Wednesday to ratify four-year contracts hammered out in long Washington sessions.

The 13,000-ton freighter American Crusader, owned by the United States Line, cast off from her Hudson River pier Wednesday night. More of the approximately 100 idled ships in Atlantic and Gulf Coast ports were to follow today.

Incomplete results showed members of the International Organization of Masters, Mates and Pilots, AFL-CIO, voting heavily for the new contract.

Officials of the other striking AFL-CIO union, the American Radio Association, said their members also voted overwhelmingly to end the strike.

Ghana President Takes Direct Army Command

ACCRA, Ghana (AP)—President Kwame Nkrumah has taken direct command of Ghana's army following widespread rumors that some generals wanted to depose him.

Sources said two generals, ousted from their posts and retired in a surprise move last month, suggested Ghana would be better off without Nkrumah.

There was no indication, however, the general actually plotted against the Ghanian president.

Nkrumah took over command of the army Tuesday.

By taking direct command of the 10,000-man army, Nkrumah left Defense Minister Kofi Baako with only the jobs of civil defense, the veterans organization and administrative work.

Nkrumah previously had taken direct command of his personal security battalion which acts as his household guard.

Ghana's special security police are Russian-advised. All other police have been disarmed since a young constable attempted to shoot Nkrumah in January 1964.

Suggests New Plane

LONDON (AP) — Dr. Barnes Wallis, prominent aircraft researcher, urged Britain today to develop a revolutionary plane equally capable of long supersonic flights or short hops on domestic routes.

A plane of this kind, he said, coupled with development of submarine freighters to ply below the polar icecaps, could restore Britain's dominance in international transport.

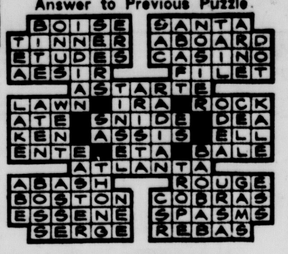

Strafe Borneo Village

KUCHING, Malaysia (AP) — Two Indonesian warplanes strafed a Malaysian Borneo village Wednesday but caused no casualties and little damage, military spokesman reported.

The quokka, a diminutive kangaroo of Australia, is barely 12 inches high when full-grown.

Taylor to Serve As Consultant on Viet Nam Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has named Maxwell D. Taylor a special consultant and said he will have "a continuing role in support of the people and government" of South Viet Nam.

This role was not spelled out as the President—Taylor beside him — made his announcement Wednesday night. Nor did Johnson amplify other special assignments he said he will give the former U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam.

Johnson said Taylor, a former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, will be charged with reviewing all government programs aimed at countering Communist advances abroad. And, he said, Taylor will operate when in Washington from the executive office building, across the street from the White House.

Taylor said he thinks Johnson has in mind "a king of task force assignment."

Henry Cabot Lodge, who succeeded Taylor in Saigon, also served as a special presidential consultant.

Probe Hudson Burglaries

Two burglaries in the City of Hudson were under investigation today by police. The Adam Kritzman Clothing Store on Warren Street was entered and the intruders took $30 to $50 in coins. The J. J. Newberry Store was also entered and a safe was peeled. About $20 in coins were reportedly stolen.

Harry Allen Seeks Democratic Nod For Supervisor

A man with 20 years of volunteer service in every phase of community life, Harry Allen, is seeking the Democratic nomination for Town of Shandaken supervisor at the Democratic caucus Thursday, Sept. 9.

The Pine Hill merchant, a member of the Ulster County Democratic Committee has been a resident of the Town of Shandaken for more than 20 years.

His enviable record in civic life includes membership on Onteora Board of Education for eight years; past president of Pine Hill Chamber of Commerce; member of Pine Hill Fire Department for 10 years; president and vice president of Ulster County School Board Association for four years; past president of Onteora P-TA; chairman of March of Dimes drive 10 years; president Pine Hill Recreation Committee, and 12 years in various positions in Boy Scouting from 1946 to 1958.

In addition he has served in various fund raising campaigns and for a variety of good causes and for civic improvement.

In a statement announcing his candidacy, Allen remarked:

"Our town deserves a chance to grow. It needs leadership. The Town of Shandaken may be a small square in the big State of New York, but to its 3,000 population it is the most important spot on the map. Its prosperity determines our present and future, and that of our children. Nowadays, there is no program standing still, it's either up or down. I say we go up, raise our sights."

"We must find ways to bring to this area the kind of facilities vacationers want, all year round. That is our biggest source of income. We need good education facilities for our residents, better recreational programs, the expansion of Belleayre State Park into an all year round playground. We need medical and clinical facilities. We need to bring more business here, and we need to get the sales tax repealed. And last but not least, I intend to work for the interest and welfare of all of us.

"I will be alert to state and federal aid to reach these goals. Washington and Albany want these funds to reach the towns and counties. It is the fault of the present leadership here that we haven't utilized these resources. The present leadership may be too proud, but it is a pride that belongs to the 1890's. Most of all, we ourselves will get behind a plan that will mean progress for the Town of Shandaken.

Allen, if nominated will have as his possible Republican candidate, the incumbent supervisor Ralph Bush (R) of Chichester, also a town merchant. Both are in the grocery business. Bush is completing his fourth two-year term. He will most likely be named at the GOP town caucus which has not been scheduled at this time.

Allen is a former member of the New York City Police Department and is married to the former Lenore Ellen Spector. They have a son, Jeffrey, now attending Bryant College in Rhode Island where he is serving with the ROTC U. S. Air Force officer and pilot training of the

TOWN OF ULSTER

Voters are the employer of the Town Supervisor. As an employer, consider what another employer says about one of your prospective candidates.

Vote at the Republican Caucus, Saturday, Sept. 11

RICHARD SHULTS
60 HIGHLAND AVE.
KINGSTON, N. Y.

August 30, 1965

Voters of the Town of Ulster
To Whom It May Concern:

Ever since Bob Stedge finished at Cornell, he has been a friend and business associate of mine. My knowledge of him as a man and his potential as a candidate for Supervisor of your Town might provide some townspeople with a better understanding of his qualifications.

First, I would like to say I know nothing - lack of ability, poor health, family, friends, or obligations - that would prevent him from being an outstanding leader for your Town. But I do know that he has to an exceptional degree many qualities that would ensure a successful term of office - his interest in town affairs for years, his capacity to start and finish properly whatever he undertakes, and above all his devotion to the principles of his own life. I can certainly say that never have I known a person to be more willing to sacrifice for or live more strictly in accordance with what he believes to be right.

I feel he will do more for your Town than the office of Supervisor will do for him.

I actually find it a personal pleasure to be able to recommend for your consideration, Bob Stedge, a man we can all admire and absolutely rely on.

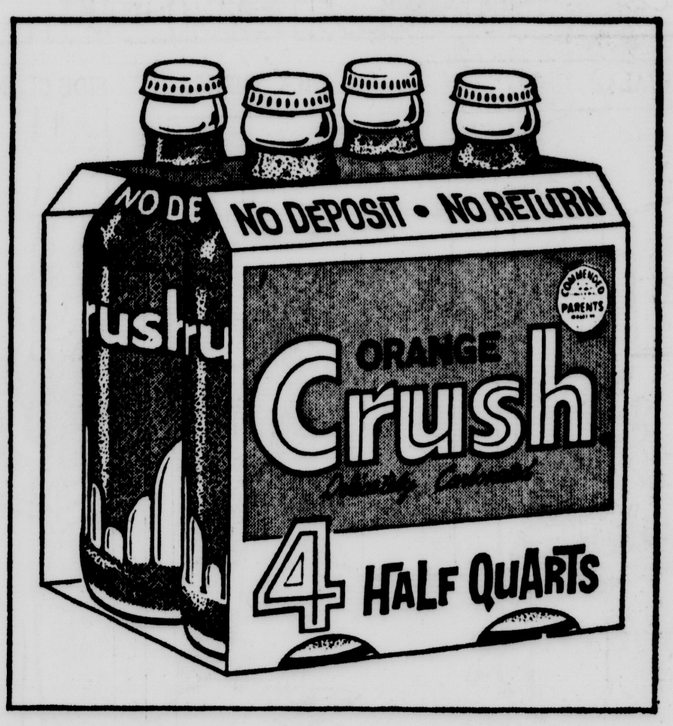

Yours very truly,
J. R. Shults Jr.
J. Richard Shults, Pres.
Canfield Supply Company

P. S. Should Bob be elected to the office he seeks our Company would be eliminated as a potential source of materials for the Town, also his election would mean a further loss to the Company of his time. However, we have always been of the opinion that every company has the responsibility to enable its employees to participate in community affairs. This company is no exception.

Exotic Game Will Be Let Out of Zoo

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — Two young oryx, born about nine months ago at the Albuquerque Zoo, will be released in a remote section of western New Mexico Friday to see how well exotic game animals can fare in the state.

The oryx, a type of African antelope, are the first to be released from a herd acquired by the state game department in 1963.

Eventual aim of the program is to establish exotic herds for big game hunters.

The male and female oryx will have 320 fenced-in acres on the Gila River as their home. Wildlife managers will observe the animals closely.

Only known breeding ground of the rare whooping crane is in Canada's Wood Buffalo park, near Great Slave Lake in the Northwest Territories.

Picnic Baskets Are Top Bargains During Labor Day

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Holiday weekend shoppers will find picnic basket bargains at grocery stores across the country this weekend.

Hamburgers, steaks and roasts, along with fryers and canned or smoked hams, will be big attractions.

Salad vegetables and fruits are in good supply. Watermelons are generally plentiful as are bananas, oranges, peaches and plums.

A national supermarket chain leads its weekend specials for the New York City area with turkeys, smoked ham and shrimp. Egg prices also are down. Veal chops, which were on special last week, are up 20 cents to $1.09 a pound. Leg of lamb is up 10 cents, to 79 cents. Wholesale prices on fresh pork have been down.

Florida citrus fruit production this year has been up markedly from a year ago, when the crop was cut by a bad freeze. These items may mean lower prices on food items this winter.

Loan to Turkey

WASHINGON (AP) — The United States has agreed to loan $7,690,000 to Turkey to help that country in building a power transmission system.

The Mature Parent

EDITOR'S NOTE: This column was written last spring at the height of national concern over the student demonstrations at the University of California and other colleges. Written in the form of a letter to all campus rebels, it was held for release now as students begin to filter back to school for the new year.)

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR CAMPUS REBELS: Speaking on a television report of the protest movement against the University of California, a student leader said:

"We now have to turn inward to ourselves for rules because the rules we've been taught don't work."

It's a big risk you're taking by throwing out our rules in order to make your own.

But you've heard that before, haven't you? All right. Then let me tell you something you may not have heard before. Your rules may not work, either.

If they fail you, these inwardly made sexual, social and political rules of yours, if they end by punishing you with too much hurt and humiliation, where then will you go for reliable rules?

You need to be told what it is since it is stupid, not heroic, to take risks without any awareness of what they are.

Yes, young people can destroy themselves by too wholesale a trust of the inward rules. Often the form their self-destruction takes is the very adjusted, beaten conformity they have so passionately despised. Their lovely venture-someness dies in terror of itself. And looking at them at 35 or 40, doing their jobs, making their payments on their split-levels, catching the 8:15, fools think: 'They've settled down."

But that the fool's thought. What wiser people know is that confidence in the "inwardness" which made rules for them that didn't work has died. Never again, except maybe at moments before awaking from sleep or falling into it, will they be able to imagine what it was like to believe that there's more to living than obeying other people's rules.

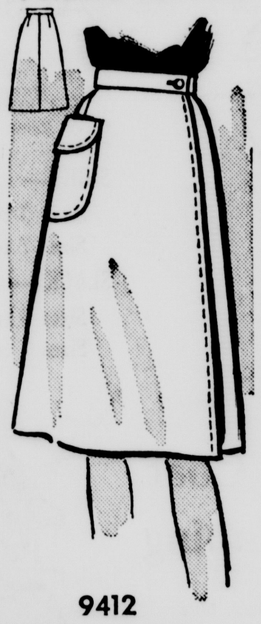

I'm bored by you delusion that yours is the only generation capable of responding to injustice. If we failed you, it's not because we've passed on such a bad world to you but because we're scared to lose our tempers with you; to yell at you:

"Special? You're not special! We bled and died on the beaches of Normandy and Okinawa in response to injustice! What's a ride in a paddy wagon in defense of free speech to death under the guns of Hitler? Who the devil do you think you are to talk down to us?"

Franklin Drake Show Is Rhapsody of Color

By DOROTHY A. NAREL
Freeman Society Editor

The Franklin Drake show in Copeland Galleries, Woodstock, has provoked not only widespread interest but a great deal of discussion and controversy. The show opened on August 28th and attracted an overflow attendance including some of the finest artists in the surrounding area.

Drake, recognized for his outstanding abilities, introduced an entirely new form of art—the use of styrane foam and plexiglass. Here is a man who has the artistic audacity to be a pioneer in the use of new chemical substances.

His show is a rhapsody of color. At a quick glance, the substances used look like a blending of fluffy whipped cream or light as air angel food cake. It is the most unusual, the most provocative show ever shown in this area.

Commenting on the brilliance of colors, Mr. Drake dubbed one of his works ". . .a type of electrified Walt Disney forest."

Summing up comments made by the artist to interested guests, we learn that Mr. Drake possibly may be the only artist using styrene foam and polyurathane as a means of expression. Styrene foam is a difficult substance to handle but Drake feels there are countless possibilities for its use by the artist and is curious himself about its further development.

Drake has molded and carved this new substance into forms which give the impression of continuous growth. It's like moving through a dream abundant with brilliant colored marine life, forests, seas, even ice cream.

Mrs. Salvadore Ley, former directress of a New York City art gallery, says about the exhibit: ". . . One must credit the artist with more than the desire to shock. Here is a painter who was born with a brush in his hands, so to say, who feels his art as one who is completely involved with the contemporary scene, and makes his commentary in a new technique The technique is new but the traditional and highly senstive hand of the artist is there in every sense, composition and color."

The Drake will close September 10th.

Find Dream Essay Elicits Response From Poor Pupils

By HOWARD H. MUSON

BOSTON (AP) — "If I was banished, I would live in the wood because I don't have to were (worry) about light bill and gass bill and I could cauth (catch) my own food."

So begins a composition by a seventh grader in Boston's Operation Second Chance, a special English class for potential dropouts, many of them from poor families.

A student teacher, Gail Donovan, reports in the summer issue of the Harvard Graduate School of Education bulletin that the youngsters learned best when talking about their dreams.

The first essay she assigned was "What I did on my vacation" and it produced the "I didn't do anything, Miss Donovan" kind of response.

But the topic "If I were banished, I would live in." inspired imaginary flights written, despite grammar deficiencies, with dash and enthusiasm:

"If I were banished I would live in Australia I would go to the jungles and live with the navtive. I would learn how to use a boomrang and help the navtive get their food."

"If I were banished, I would live in a house that I will never forget it will be the best house on the street. The color will be fire red I will have flowers in front of it."

"If I were banished, I would live in New York on 42nd streets were you meet all kind of pepol the night come I would go in the show for all night."

"If I were banish, I would go fare away I woin'd go to particular place I travel from town to town from city to city state to state to county to county to world to world.

DIVIDING THE WEDDING LIST BETWEEN THE FAMILIES

A question frequently asked in connection with a wedding, is how the guest list should be divided between the families.

In answer: If the families have long been friends and live in the same community, the invitations should be divided more or less equally between them. If it is decided that one hundred may be included at the reception, this would suggest that some 70 names would probably be the same and would mean then that each would be able to add 15 of their own to the 70 already on their shared list. But if they have never known each other well and their friends are unknown to each other, each would have to limit their list to 50.

On the other hand, if the groom's people live in another place and this may mean that not more than 20 will be able to come, the bride's mother will be able to invite as many as will result in 80 acceptances. Both mothers may risk being a little overliberal because there are always a few who, having accepted, are then prevented for one reason or another from coming.

Saugerties Pageant Employs Backdrop Theme Successfully

Editors Note—The fourth and final of the series in the 10-year history of the Miss Saugerties Pageant shows further refinement with the successful employment of the background theme in its presentations.

by ALBERT J. CAWEIN
Freeman Staff Writer

The eighth annual Miss Saugerties Pageant August 25, 1962 was set in a Hawaiian background on the stage of Saugerties High School auditorium.

Janet Irene Schlenker, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bertran Schlenker was the third queen to originate from the Hamlet of West Camp.

Most Impressing

The tall, blue-eyed brunette made an impressive appearance in a swim suit and a lovely white sheath taffeta gown she wore in the evening gown competition. Conte was again the executive director.

JANET SCHLENKER

The 1963 titleholder is now married to John A. Snyder and they reside in Alexandria, Va. She is employed in the Pentagon in Washington, D.C.

The theme of the 1964 pageant was Under Paris Skies with Conte, executive director and Bosco, assistant director. Eleven girls competed for the title of Miss Saugerties 1964.

JANE MARKOVSKY

Eugenia Jane Markovsky, a sparkling five-foot two brunette with brown eyes, was chosen the winner. Her exquisite dance number on which she elaborated in the Miss New York State Pageant the following July, won her a $150 scholarship as the most talented non-finalist.

Attending College

She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexx Markovsky of Washburn Terrace. The queen of 1964 is attending Hudson Valley Community College, Troy. During the summer she is employed as a lifeguard at the exclusive Elka Park Club in that Greene County community.

The reigning queen this year is Beth Offermann, a five-foot six blue-eyed blonde with a sweet baby face. (She denies the baby face bit). She was chosen at the 10th annual pageant Sept. 19 last year at the high school.

BETH OFFERMANN

Last year's pageant had for its theme, Starway to the Stars, produced by Conte and Vincent J. Amrod as executive director. Miss Offermann is the 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Offermann of Saugerties. During the summer she helps her father in the Offermann Record and Gift Shop on Partition Street.

The pageant drew 10 contestants. Liz, as she is known to her friends, would like to further her education at the Barbizon School of Modeling, New York City.

Scholarship Plan

The change of format in 1960 included the presentation of a cash scholarship to the winners. In recent years the winner received $350, first runner-up, $100, and second runner-up, $50. The winning purse depends largely on the number of tickets sold for the pageant. This year the producers will attempt to increase the award if ticket sales increase accordingly.

Trophies are awarded to the first three and Miss Congeniality chosen by the contestants. Each entrant received a bracelet with engraving noting she was a contestant.

The deadline for entering this year's contest is August 30. Applications are available in many of the business places in Saugerties and at Saugerties Area Chamber of Commerce office, Amrod Building, Partition Street.

This year's pageant, A Portrait in Beauty, will be held Saturday, Sept. 18 at 8:30 p. m. in the high school auditorium.

Labor Day Fair At High Woods Opens 12 Noon

The annual Labor Day Fair of High Woods Reformed Church will start with the serving of the traditional roast beef dinner with all the trimmings at 12 noon Monday.

The servings will continue throughout the afternoon and early evening, until all are served.

The church sheds will become beehives of activity once again as the wares go on display. There will be a fancy-work booth with its many colorful aprons, in excess of six dozen from which to make a choice.

Also handmade crib quilts, and other attractive items.

In the old schoolhouse there will be a demonstration of weaving on the handlooms and a display of rugs, handbags and other handwoven articles made by the weavers Guild of the church.

The children will enjoy the treasures to be found in the special grab and doll booth. In addition, the whole family can engage in treasure hunts at other speciality booths. A plant from the flower booth is sure to brighten up the home and homemade jam will be on sale.

The X-Ray Trio will provide music for your listening pleasure, and a "spur-of-the-moment" square dance may form.

At 2 p. m. in the ring to be set up on the old schoolhouse lawn directly across from the dining hall, there will be an exhibition. Members of the Ulster Dog Training Club, with their obedience schooled dogs, under the direction of Kay Seitz, training director, will put on an exhibition.

There are a few local folks who have attended the Labor Day Fair each year for more than 70 years. They recall that as youngsters, their parents used to tell about the fair being held on the door-stones of the church. Lacking the kitchen facilities and hall as they are today, the men brought boards to build temporary tables in the old schoolhouse yard and food was provided in the form of "covered dishes" brought by the ladies.

Later, they began serving a hot meal (the forerunner of this year's roast beef dinner). For this, the church bought a 25 pound sack of flour, and one lady and her mother in their own kitchens baked all the homemade raised biscuits in the ovens of two wood-fired ranges and two - three - burner kerosene stoves. But word of the good dinners being served spread fast, and the biscuits are no longer baked in the ovens of wood-fired kitchen ranges—indeed, they are now ordered by the thousand from a local bakery.

There was also the time when local folks would bring their best roosters for the annual "rooster race" but, as the fair grew larger and preparations more numerous that had to be abandoned. I suppose they had no time to condition and train their prize roosters for the race. Through the years other forms of amusement and entertainment have taken over to provide young and old alike with what promises to be an enjoyable day.

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—One Rochester police detective planned to return to work while another was to seek a new job in the latest developments in a controversy which began with a crime survey requested by a political leader.

Lipari asked City Manager Arthur B. Curran in writing to withdraw his earlier request for reinstatement and said he would seek other employment.

The two men signed loyalty oaths at the request of Public Safety Commissioner Harper Sibley Jr.

Sibley ordered them demoted after they denied, then admitted meeting with Frank Valenti of Rochester, described by police as a member of a Cosa Nostra family.

The car, described as a 1964 Olds, red bearing a white license plate did not stop. The driver was described as about 30 and a small man. An investigation is underway.

Hudson Police Is Down to 19 Men

Hudson's City Police Department has been reduced to 19 men, with the resignation of Patrolman Walter Sopke, a 17-year veteran of the force who will enter private industry.

The patrolman's request for a leave of absence had been denied by Police Commissioner Raymond Freeman because the department already had become understaffed.

The normal 22 man force was reduced earlier by the death of Police Chief John J. Sullivan, and the suspension of another officer.

Presenting the award is Bob Hewitson, center. Capt. Pete Sarno, Jr., right, captained the boat Spray III on which Melnik caught the prize fish, a bluefish weighing 12 pounds, 5 ounces. The tournament is in its 12th and final week, ending after the Labor Day weekend.

Tony Oliva Looks Like Repeater

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

When baseball starts handing out its postseason awards, it' just possible that Minnesota's Tony Oliva will wind up with his second silver bat and first purple heart.

Oliva, who has been playing all season long with a bone chip in the middle finger of his right hand, came back from a week's layoff Wednesday night and resumed defense of his American League batting title with two doubles and a single in the Twins' 5-2 victory over Detroit.

The 24-year-old left-handed swinger still trails Boston's Carl Yastrzemski, who is hitting .323, and Brooks Robinson of Baltimore, swinging at a .319 clip, in the three-way struggle for the title and the silver bat that goes with it.

But Oliva's 3-for-4 performance quickly shot him back into contention with a .315 mark as he attempts to become the first batting champion to repeat since Boston's Ted Williams accomplished the feat in 1957 and 1958.

While Oliva resumed his chase for the batting title, the front-running Twins moved eight games ahead of second-place Chicago in the AL pennant race. The White Sox were rained out at Baltimore.

Elsewhere, Kansas City edged Cleveland 4-3, Washington outlasted Boston 8-7 and the Los Angeles Angels nipped the New York Yankees 7-6 in 12 innings.

Oliva, who is second in the league in runs scored with 96, third in doubles with 33 and fourth in runs batted in with 83, doubled home the first run and then scored on a passed ball in a three-run first inning outburst against the Tigers.

Homers Win for A's

Home runs by Bill Bryan and Wayne Causey got the job done for the A's. The Indians took a 2-0 lead against John O'Donoghue in the second but Bryan hit a three-run shot in the A's half and Causey hit what turned out to be the clincher with the bases empty in the sixth inning off Luis Tiant.

The Senators pulled out front to stay, 8-6, in the seventh inning after the Red Sox had tied the score in their half with a three-run rally built on Jim Gosger's double, four walks, two wild pitches and a sacrifice fly. Ken McMullen's double and Willie Kirkland's single broke the tie and Don Lock singled in the final run.

The Yankees contributed to their own downfall by committing seven errors and having two men picked off. The winning run in the 12th was set up when Pedro Ramos issued two-out walks to Bob Rodgers and Paul Schaal. Jose Cardenal then singled Rodgers home with the winning run for the Angels.

No-Can-Do Opens

Egyptian Candor Wins Hambletonian Stakes

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP)—Egyptian Candor won a fourth-heat, three horse raceoff by a neck over Ambro Flight Wednesday to capture the 40th Hambletonian Stakes.

Short Stop, going off stride at the start, remained third all the way round the heavy footing of the mile oval and finished about one length behind Ambro Flight.

The winning time for Egyptian Candor, an unofficial 8-1 choice in the betless race, was 2:10 1/5. The brown colt sired by the great Star's Pride, is owned by Mrs. Stanley Dancer of New Egypt, N.J. and was driven by Del Cameron, whose only previous Hambletonian triumph came with Newport Dream in 1954.

The victory was the 12th in 26 starts for Egyptian Candor and was worth $59,900 to boost his earnings to $162,033.

Second place was worth $29,950 and third $14.375.

Fourth place on the basis of finishers in the first three heats went to Nimble Boy, owned by Castleton Farms of Lexington and driven by Ralph Baldwin. It was worth $9,584.

Marengo Hanover Fifth

Taking fifth and $5,990 was Marengo Hanover, owned by A. C. Mudge of Hanover, Pa., and K. D. Owen of Huston, Tex.

Nimble Boy's finishes were 2-2-7, while Marengo Hanover was 3-4-5.

Short Stop, a $6,000 purchase two years ago by the Penn-Win Stable of Winston-Salem, N. C., won the first mile heat in 2:05. 1/5. The heat was delayed for nearly three hours while the race track was worked into condition following 24 hours of rain which ended in early morning.

Nimble Boy was second a head behind in a photo finish.

Short Stop was driven by Ned Bower, who scored with another long shot, the Intruder, in 1956.

Wins Second Heat

Egyptian Candor took the second heat by a nose over Nimble Boy, who was only a neck in front of Ambro Flight. The time was 2:04.3/5.

Armbro Flight, piloted to victory in 22 straight starts coming up to the Hambletonian by two-time winner Joe O'Brien, took the third heat in 2:03 4/5 by a neck over Egyptian Candor a length ahead of Noble Victory.

The biggest disappointment was by Noble Victory, an overwhelming 1-2 choice with a string of victories and winnings of $280,566 — the richest horse ever to compete in the Hambletonian.

Noble Victory, driven by Stanley Dancer, who was seeking his first triumph after five misses, broke stride for only the second time in his life at the top of the stretch and finished ninth in the first heat.

He was seventh in the second.

A crowd of 36,692 was inside the fairground at race time and the stands were at near capacity of 22,000.

With the delayed start, nightfall nearly closed in as seat holders were moved out to make room for another crowd watching the fair's big entertainment show.

Dodgers in Great Fall

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Like Humpty Dumpty, the Los Angeles Dodgers have had a great fall, and now they must wonder whether Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale can put them back together again.

Koufax and Drysdale, the winningest pair of pitchers on any team in the majors, were on the bottom of the fall Wednesday night as the charging Pittsburgh Pirates dropped them in a doubleheader 3-2 in 11 innings and 2-1.

The double defeat tumbled the Dodgers out of the National League lead because at the same time Cincinnati swept a pair from Milwaukee 7-6 and 2-0. That put the Reds on top, one percentage point ahead of the Dodgers.

The San Francisco Giants, who were rained out at Philadelphia, are one-half game back, the Braves are in fourth, two behind, and the fifth-place Pirates — with 10 victories in their last 11 games — trail by only 2½ games.

In other NL games, St. Louis trounced Chicago 9-0 and New York defeated Houston 4-1 before bowing 8-5.

Breaks Own Record

En route to his latest loss, Koufax broke his 1963 National League season strikeout record of 306 by fanning 10 Pirates and bringing his total to 313, just 35 away from Bob Feller's all-time mark.

The Pirates won the game in the 11th on a walk to Willie Stargell and Jim Pagliaroni's double. In the nightcap, Bill Virdon, who tied the contest with a sixth-inning homer, singled in the eighth, raced to third on Roberto Clemente's single and scored as Maury Wills fumbled Manny Mota's grounder.

The Reds won the opener with two runs in the ninth when rookie Tommy Helms tripled home Marty Keough and scored as Tom Harper singled. Deron Johnson drove in three Cincinnati runs with two homers while Mack Jones and Hank Aaron knocked in a pair for the Braves.

Maloney Wins 17th

Jim Maloney, now 17-6 pitched a five-hitter and struck out 12 in the nightcap. Tony Perez supported Maloney with a second-inning homer.

Tracy Stallard posted the Cardinals' second straight shutout over the Cubs with a three-hitter. Curt Flood knocked in two runs while Bob Skinner homered.

Joe Christopher's two-run triple in the eighth helped New York's Al Jackson to his seventh victory against 17 defeats in the opener. The Astros came back for the second-game victory as Rusty Staub hit a three-run homer and Jim Gentile drove in three runs with two homers.

23 Lettermen At Wappingers

With 23 returning lettermen, Coach Ken Lynn is looking forward to a "respectable season" for the Wappingers High School football team this year.

The interior starting line was lost via graduation but Lynn hopes that co-captain Randy Scott and Greg Popovich and backfield ace Jim Ruf will form the nucleus of this year's club.

Wappingers has an eight-game schedule and will open on Sept. 18 at Lakeland.

Yesterday's Stars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

PITCHING — Jim Maloney, Reds, completed 7-6, 2-0 doubleheader sweep by blanking Milwaukee on five hits as Cincinnati took over the National League lead by one percentage point over Los Angeles.

BATTING — Tony Oliva, Twins, returned to line-up after a week's absence and stroked two doubles and a single as Minnesota downed Detroit 5-2 and increased its American League lead to eight games.

Mixed League Meeting

A meeting of the Friday Night Mixed league will be held tonight, 8:45 p. m. at Ferraro's Bowlerama. Team captains are urged to attend. Teams and or individuals are needed for the league. There are two men and two women on each team.

Serravallo and Crum Are Only Regulars Back

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Since 1960, Saugerties High football teams have either won or finished near the top in the Dutchess County Scholastic league.

The Sawyers won four straight championships and captured 32 consecutive victories during that span. Though the string of wins was snapped last year, the club missed a fifth straight title only on the final day of the season, bowing to Beacon and finishing fourth.

For the time being at least, the glory days in football have ended in Saugerties. Coach Fred Seither has only two starters returning from the club which posted a 5-3 mark in 1964. There are only four letter winners. The other candidates are either new or up from the jayvee or frosh ranks.

55 Candidates

Seither and assistant Jeff Smythe (back at Saugerties after obtaining a Master's Degree at the University of Florida) are putting 55 boys through their paces. About half will be carried on the varsity squad and the others will play jayvee ball.

Among the hopefuls are center Frank Serravallo and quarterback Grant Crum, the only returning regulars. Serravallo is a standout, one of the best at his position.

Letter winners back once again are guard Ed Hurley, backs Charles Hudson and Richard Teetsel and punter Steve Benack.

Top prospects among the linemen include ends John Silenovich, Tom Speirs, Robert VanDerBeck and John Woerthmann; tackles Al Cotich, Drew Craig, Jim Kerr, Richard Thornton, Roy Welton, Ward Borcherdt and Richard Bollin; guards Tom Bell, William Reinhardt, John Washburn and center Fred Serravalle.

All except for VanDerBeck and Welton were either jayvee or frosh players last year.

Promising Quarterback

In the backfield, Seither is hoping sophomore Don Canger can make the grade at quarterback. He's considered a promising newcomer. If he jells, Crum might be transferred to halfback.

Others being counted on in the backfield are Tom Riozzi and Bob Spiers, quarterbacks; Mel Hauck, Carl Nickerson, John Winchell and Dan Stevens, halfbacks; Frank Beisel, Joe Ferraro, Vic Olivett and Henry Rua, fullbacks.

Other line candidates are Tom Anderson, Burt Archers, Vince Archers, George Benz, Rich Downey, Phil Emerick, James Mau, Mark Miscarella, Ken Myer, Howard Post, Rich Praetorious, Tom Suenram.

Backfield hopefuls include Roy Gillespie, John Warns, Henry VanDenbeck, John Quinlan, Tony Konopka and Don Arthur.

Though there isn't much experience this year, Seither emphasized that only 10 of the candidates are seniors, meaning the underclassmen will have a lot of playing time.

Pete Kramer will handle the jayvee squad and Steve Haskell a newcomer, will be the frosh coach. Seither is disappointed by the slim turnout of freshmen. Only 25 reported.

Saugerties will open its season on Saturday, Sept. 18 at Highland. Five league games are booked and a Saturday morning contest with Highland Falls and tilt with Port Jervis are also on the slate.

A capsule comment of the club:

STRENGTH — At center with holdover Frank Serravallo and brother Fred. There is also plenty of hustle, a trademark of clubs coached by Seither.

WEAKNESSES — Lack of game experience is the main weakness. There is no outstanding runner and there is a decided lack of good interior linemen. There isn't any depth should any of the regulars sustain serious injuries.

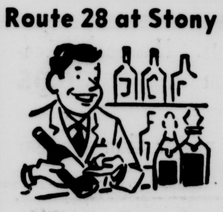

OFFENSE — The Delaware Winged T, which Seither used in the 32-game winning streak, will be the chief offense. It features good blocking and emphasizes the running game.

HOLIDAY TIRE NEEDS AT HUGE SAVINGS.
Buy 1½ Rain Tires, get 2.

Buy one at our no-trade-in price and get the second for half that price (plus tax on two tires). No trade-in required.
This is the time to get those two Rain Tires you've been thinking of getting. One at our no-trade-in price. The second for half that price.
But if you want to play it really smart, we suggest you buy three Rain Tires at our no-trade-in price. And get the fourth at no additional cost (except the tax on four tires).
Then you'll have a complete set of Rain Tires for your car.
With them, you'll be able to stop 30% shorter on a rain-slicked road than you could when your car was brand new. And on a wet curve, you'll hold the road 50% better.
You'll be in great shape when the sun comes out, too. Because a set of Rain Tires will give you more control in passing and cornering on a dry road than the tires that came with your car. And less wander when you're driving down a straightaway at 70 or 80.
(That's how much difference there is between The Rain Tire and the tires that originally came with the '64, '63 or '62 cars. If you own a '61 or earlier car, the improvement is even more dramatic.)
Just make sure you get The Rain Tire. The one that says U.S. Royal Laredo on the side. (Remember, one at our no-trade-in price will get you a second one for half that price.)

54-Hole Tourney Sunday-Monday

The three golfers who would be the first three choices for the Ulster County Hall of Fame will match skills in the 1965 Kingston Area Round Robin Sunday and Monday.

Leon Randall will represent Wiltwyck Country Club. George Hughes is the Twaalfskill standard bearer and Bill Van Aken goes for Woodstock in the 54-hole medal event which is scored by the round robin plus and minus method.

First round is scheduled Sunday at 9 a. m. at Twaalfskill; the second at 2 p. m. at Woodstock. The third and final round will be played at 9 a. m. Labor Day at Wiltwyck.

Randall has won two of the past three tournaments which replaced the former Kingston City playoff. Harvey Bostic of Wiltwyck won the 1963 event to give the uptown club a sweep of the three tournaments to date.

Woodstock Trails

Hughes is the only player to have appeared in all three tourneys and each time finished as the "middle man." Woodstock has had rough going, finishing last each time.

Van Aken, who was low man twice, is playing excellent golf and hopes to break out of the cellar.

Results of the past three tournaments:

1962 — Randall, plus 26; Hughes, plus 14; Herb Waterous, minus 40.

1963 — Bostic, plus 32; Hughes, plus 17; Van Aken, minus 49.

1964 — Randall, plus 23; Hughes, even; Van Aken, minus 23.

Under the round robin system, each player competes against the other in a combination of match play and medal score. For example, if a golfer has 4, B golfer 5 and C golfer 6, at the end of the hole A would be plus 3, B even and C would be minus 3. The plus and minus are cumulative through the 54 holes.

Harry Hohnhorst Among Entries in Seniors A Group

Eight time champion Harry Hohnhorst of Woodstock is among the early Class A entries for the 13th annual Ulster County Seniors golf championships Sept. 12 at Woodstock Country Club.

Defending champion J. Karl Hartfuer of West Hurley, who ended Hohnhorst's five-year reign in 1964, is a doubtful starter.

Hohnhorst won the Seniors inaugural in 1954. He also won in 1956-57 and racked up five straight after Bruff W. Olin of Woodstock took the 1958 feature. The latter will not compete this year.

Other Class A entries (70 and over) to date include Irving Kauder, Ernest Le Fevre, Arthur A. Davis, Floyd W. Flint, Harry Green and A. J. (Tony) de Lisio, president of the Seniors Association.

Justly Scottish Feature Winner At Monticello

MONTICELLO — Last Night's featured sixth race at [illegible] Raceway was won by Justly Scottish in 2:10.2 over a [illegible] soaked oval. Don Niccum was in the seat to rein the daughter of Justly Worth—Scottish [illegible] to a half-length verdict in a $2,000 two-year-old [illegible].

Owned by Dr. Edgar and Katherine [illegible], Ky., Justly Scott[illegible] off the early pace set by Harriette C. At the five-eights pole, Harriette C. went off stride while being challenged by Sturdy, Carl Ernst driving, and All American Charlie Norris Jr. up.

Sturdy gained the front heading up the backstretch the second time with All American his immediate foe ranging up alongside. At this point, Niccum moved Justly Scottish up behind All American.

Around the final turn, the three trotted like a team. In the lane, however, Justly Scottish had the most trot and got up for the victory. Sturdy was second, a neck in front of All American. Jim Grundy's favored Danny Dean, a winner of four of his five previous Mighty M starts, ruined his chances with a break in the first turn.

In recording the victory, Justly Scottish pushed her seasonal earnings to $22,302. This was her seventh win of the year.

Last night's 1 and 4 Daily Double paid $62.20 when Grundy won the first race with First Edition and then George Sadovsky took the second behind Jayle Bird.

One unidentified ticket-holder won the Twin Double at the Mighty M by playing the 8-7-4-2 combination. The Twin returned $19,131.80. The Perfecta paid $52.50. Winning combination was 6-1.

A crowd of 3,201 was on hand to wager $216, 327.

Feuding Trackmen Get Week's Deadline

WASHINGTON (AP) — The wrangling bosses of U.S. amateur track and field affairs have been told by the Senate Commerce Committee to arrange peace terms within a week or Congress will be asked to settle the dispute for them.

To a man the committee members hope Congress can sit on the sidelines and watch peace descend, but none predicts this will happen.

At war over jurisdictional matters are the Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) and the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA).

Inter Playoffs To Start Friday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With the end of the International League season, Columbus, Atlanta, Toronto, and Syracuse are poised for the first round of the playoffs beginning Friday.

Columbus, which won the pennant by 2 ½ games over Atlanta and 3 ½ over Toronto, meets Syracuse on its home field Friday while Toronto and Atlanta play at Atlanta. The best-of-7 playoffs shift to Toronto and Syracuse after three games.

In Wednesday's final regular season games, Columbus won the first game 4-1 before losing the nightcap of a doubleheader to Atlanta 4-2, Syracuse outlasted Toledo 6-3 in 13 innings, and Rochester provided Buffalo with its 96th loss of the season 4-1.

Atlanta's Pat Jarvis struck out 14 Jets in the finale at Columbus before being removed for Jack Smith with two out in the eighth.

In the first game, Columbus bunched a homer by Jose Artinez, triples by George Springgs and Purn Goldy, and a double by Martinez into the third and fourth inning to account for all their runs.

Toronto's Gary Waslewski had a no-hitter for 5 2-3 innings but Syracuse scored twice in the seventh and once in the eighth to defeat the Maple Leafs whose only run was unearned.

Frank Bertainia struck out 14 in leading Rochester to its victory over Buffalo. Despite the win, Rochester fell one game short in its bid for the playoffs.

A double with the bases loaded in the 13th by Coco Laboy carried Jacksonville to its victory at Toledo. Laboy drove in five runs for the night.

Roseboro Hits Marichal With $110,000 Suit

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Catcher John Roseboro of the Los Angeles Dodgers has filed a $110,000 damage suit against the San Francisco Giants and their star pitcher, Juan Marichal, who clubbed Roseboro with a baseball bat Aug. 22.

Roseboro's attorney, Leo Branton Jr., said in Los Angeles that a complaint has been filed in Superior Court against Marichal and the Giants seeking $10,000 in general damages and $100,000 in exemplary and punitive damages.

He said the suit avers that Marichal "did without provocation commit assault and battery against the plaintiff with a deadly weapon, that Roseboro was severely injured and was caused pain and suffering."

Roseboro, in Pittsburgh for the Dodgers' series against the Pirates, said in a statement Wednesday night he brought suit for "the unprovoked attack made upon me at Candlestick Park . . ." Marichal opened a two-inch gash on Roseboro's head in the explosive brawl. Roseboro said, "My decision to take this action is due not only to the brutal attack upon my person, but, just as important, is due to the fact that some severe action should be taken against a man who not only set a bad example for millions of baseball fans throughout the world, but apparently from recent statements has attempted to defend and justify his outrageous conduct."

Marichal, in Philadelphia where his first scheduled start since the incident was washed out, declined comment except to say, "I wish I had that much, half that much, quarter that much."

President Warren Giles of the National League suspended Marichal for eight playing days, fined him $1,750 and ordered him to stay out of Los Angeles for the Giants' last trip there Monday and Tuesday.

New Hampshire Sweeps Saturday

SALEM, N.H. (AP) — The New Hampshire Sweepstakes Classic, its value doubled over 1964, will be raced for the second time at Rockingham Park Saturday with five rich payoffs awaiting the outcome of the 1¼ mile race.

Four of the payoffs will be for $100,000 each and the fifth for $183,118 if the names of the 11 expected starters are dropped into the entry box today.

The $100,000 payoffs will go the holders of the sweepstakes tickets on the first horse across the finish line. The big one is what the owner of the winning horse will take home as a reward for sending his thoroughbred to America's richest 3-year-old race at this picturesque track in the foothills of the White Mountains.

WHAT'S NEW, BUB?—Dr. and Mrs. Nicholas Derrico's Pelham Hanover, an entry in Saturday's invitational trot during Monticello Raceway's final doubleheader program, gives a stable mascot, Blackie, an inquisitive sniff. Jim Marcus, who now trains the powerful Derrico, holds both horse and pup.

Pro Charts

BY MURRAY OLDERMAN

OFFENSE

RECEIVERS—This is one instance where the tight end (John Mackey) can outrun the deep receivers (Raymond Berry, Jimmy Orr). But Coach Don Shula wouldn't trade their moves and experience for any in the league. They get the job done. The future is with reserves like Willie Richardson, Neal Petties. Butch Wilson has been impressive standing in for Mackey. RATING—very good.

OFFENSIVE LINE—Going with the same old bunch, since right tackle George Preas decided he could tend to milk business next year. Fine pass protection unit and running was beefed up with full-time switch of Jim Parker to guard. Bob Vogel emerging as all-pro tackle. Got a boost in depth with addition of Penn Starter Glenn Ressler, who can fill in anyplace. RATING—good-to-very-good.

QUARTERBACK—Merely the best in the business, as always, since John Unitas started throwing bombs a decade ago. Colts are at loss to explain his flat performance in last year's title game, but they'll take him just as he is. With a virtuoso in the wings named Gary Cuozzo. RATING—excellent.

RUNNING BACKS—If Lenny Moore tails off from his great comeback of '64, Colts can compensate with improved Tony Lorick. He'll continue to share fullback job with hard plugging Jerry Hill. There's added beef at that spot, 230-pound rookie Mike Curtis. So the inside game is above average. And if Moore rambles in old style, there's outside balance. RATING—good.

DEFENSE

DEFENSIVE LINE—No one replaces a Gino Marchetti, greatest pass-rusher of all time. But it's nice to have Lou Michaels around as a fill-in. He has the basic talent, plus experience. Folks'll get a chance to appreciate Ordell Braase on right wing. Tackles are so-so with agile Fred Miller best of lot; Billy Ray Smith, Guy Reese alternate. RATING—fair.

LINEBACKERS—Dennis Gaubatz, ex-Lion, can take Bill Pellington's place in the middle, but might not provide his leadership. Don Shinnick, Steve Stonebreaker were key performers in '64 title drive. Steve lives up to his name. Shinnick makes the key interception .Ted Davis, Jackie Burkett, ex-Viking John Campbell are in reserve. RATING—fair-to-good.

DEFENSIVE BACKS—Possible change might find spunky Wendell Harris edging ahead of Jim Welch at free safety. Otherwise, Bobby Boyd and Lenny Lyles stay at corners, Jerry Logan (future all-pro) at strong safety. Good-looking rookie named George Harold is making Alvin Haymond hop for the swing job. Boyd had a big year in '64. RATING—good.

SUMMARY—Luck rode with the Colts last year. They got the breaks, and great defensive leadership from Marchetti and Pellington. That last item is what they'll miss most—more than the physical contributions of the two vets. Of course, they'll always be in contention with Unitas. PREDICTION—third place.

Triplets Annex NY-Penn Pennant

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Binghamton Triplets, a New York Yankee farm club, won the season championship Wednesday in the Class A New York-Penn baseball league.

Auburn's threat to the Triplet's second half-season pennant victory was dispelled by rain at two ball parks.

Auburn had been scheduled to meet the Red Sox at Wellsville for a twin-bill and the Batavia Pirates were in Binghamton for a doubleheader.

In both cases they planned two games rained out Tuesday.

When the rains came Wednesday, however, the remaining matches were cancelled because, under a decision by the Board of directors at the start of the season, "we could go to midnight (Wednesday) and no further," said league President Vincent McNamara of Buffalo.

Under the league rules, the winner of the first half-season pennant faces the winner of the second half-season race in playoffs, which would have started Thursday.

But Binghamton won both pennants, so there were no playoffs needed.

The Triplets will collect the governors cup and players pool.

Another league final game of the season, Geneva at Jamestown, also was cancelled, due to wet grounds.

Binghamton last year was in the Eastern League, a class AA league.

The final Standings:

	W.	L.	Pct.	GB
Binghamton	37	24	.607	—
Auburn	37	26	.587	1
Geneva	33	30	.524	5
Batavia	30	30	.500	6½
Wellsville	27	33	.450	9½
Jamestown	18	39	.316	17

Ever add sliced water chestnuts to a shrimp salad for lunch? Moisten the salad with oil-and-vinegar dressing.

DRIVING—"One of the game's oldest truisms," says PGA champion Dave Marr, "is to position the feet shoulder-width on the drive."

Sisler Worries Oversnadow Lead

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds were back on top of the National League today but their mathematical margin — .001 — was far smaller than Manager Dick Sisler's worries.

"Billy McCool and Ted Davidson just can't continue to work as often as they have been," Sisler said after his Reds took two games from Milwaukee, 7-6 and 2-0, to move up past Los Angeles.

"Who do I have to give them help? A question. Maybe someone will fill the gap. I just couldn't tell you who it might be now because I don't know."

Both the young relief pitchers worked in the first game where the Reds came from behind to win, and McCool picked up the victory, evening his record at 8-8. Jim Maloney, now 17-6, shut out the Braves on five hits in the second game.

"Then there is Leo Cardenas," Sisler continued. "He missed his first game of the season. . . he is having eye trouble. Leo told me both of his eyes are watering and cannot see the ball very well.

"I hope the doctor finds the trouble quickly."

Cardenas was out of the Red's line-up at shortstop for the first time in 131 games in the nightcap, but the Reds hardly missed him because of their newest sensation, a 24-year-old infielder, Tommy Helms, who was called up from San Diego earlier in the week.

Helms tied the first game with a pinch triple in the ninth inning and came through with a single, a double and a triple in the second game.

Schedule Favors Pittsfield Sox

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Pittsfield Red Sox, holding a one-game edge and with just six games to play, seems to be in the driver's seat as the 1965 Eastern League season nears an end.

Pittsfield has won 80 and lost 54 and has two games left with third place Williamsport and four with fourth-place Springfield.

Second place Elmira has won 78 and lost 54, and while it should have eight games left to play, it may be unable to work in two rainouts.

Elmira's doubleheader with Reading was rained out Wednesday night. Another doublheader was scheduled today. But there was no word on whether the teams could get together before the season closed Sept. 6 for that other game.

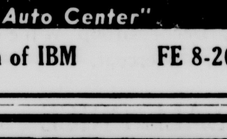

There was some talk Wednesday that today's Elmira-Reading season finale should be a triple header, but it was finally decided to go with just two games. Elmira still has a rained out game with York it never made up. Elmira's last four games are against Williamsport.

Philip The Great Surprise Winner

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Philip The Great was a surprise winner of the 2-year-old colt and filly pacing stakes at Batavia Downs Wednesday night.

The Bay Colt was way out of contention for most of the race —until the top of the stretch. Then he sailed up the middle to a length and a half win over the favorite, Deputy Hanover, in 2:07 and paid $10.

Niagara Bullet was third in the $18,101 mile race on a sloppy track.

In other featured New York State harness races:

— At Yonkers, Sly Yankee was the victor over Special Hanover by three-quarters of a length. The winner, clocked 2:07 2-5, paid $9. Vogel Hanover showed.

— At Vernon, Delphine won the $900 pace in 2:89 1-5 over Trace Abbe, second, and Mighty Macdee, third, returning $7.80.

— At Saratoga, Skataway was the victor in the $1,000 pace going the distance in 2:14 4-5 and returning $7.60. Carma C. placed, Little Lord showed.

Palmer Man to Beat In Oklahoma Tourney

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — Two-time winner Arnold Palmer was the man to beat today as a 145-man field teed off for the seventh annual $65,000 Oklahoma City Open Golf Tournament.

The defending champion, Palmer last year toured the 7,098-yard, par 72 Quail Creek course in a spectacular 277, a record 11 strokes under par. He also won here in 1959.

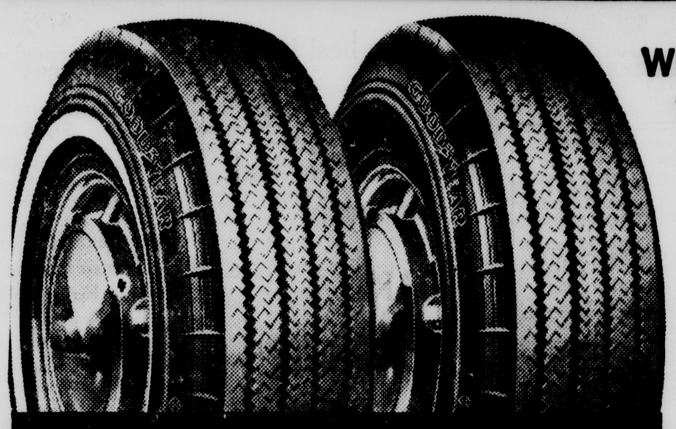

Palmer and Howie Johnson tied for pro honors with 68s in Wednesday's pro-amateur event.

Hearings Slated On Bribe Charge From Singapore

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional committee today called on the State Department and Central Intelligence Agency to explain why a formal denial of a $3-million bribery incident that took place in Singapore in 1960 backfired to the embarrassment of the U.S. government.

Rep. Clement J. Zablocki, D-Wis., chairman of the House Foreign Affairs subcommittee on the Far East, said closed hearings will be held after the Labor Day recess to obtain an explanation from responsible officials on bribery allegations brought by Singapore Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew.

Lee threatened to name an American presidential intermediary of high rank who he said offered him the bribe in 1960 if he would not reveal the arrest of an American CIA agent trapped trying to buy information from Singapore secret agents.

State Department officials were taken aback Tuesday when Lee released a letter from Secretary of State Dean Rusk which apologized for improper activities by American agents and promised disciplinary action.

Zablocki said it was "most unfortunate" that the State Department had issued a formal denial of the bribery charge on Tuesday and then had itself reversed on Wednesday.

"It is not too difficult to look back to what action Prime Minister Lee was talking about," Zablocki said. He refused to elaborate.

State Department officials insisted that only Rusk and the Central Intelligence Agency knew of the letter to Lee. Zablocki indicated that Congress had been filled in on the incident when it occurred toward the close of the Eisenhower administration.

Resnick Pleased Action Is Taken To Harvest Apples

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick, (D-28th District) advised in Washington that state officials had acted upon his request to certify a critical shortage in pickers for the fall apple harvest said that he was delighted that the action had been taken.

"I do regret, however, that this action was taken so late that we are now operating under crisis conditions, first in getting approval from the Labor Department to import apple pickers from the British West Indies, and second in recruiting the pickers. I am speaking today with Labor Department officials to press the case for the apple growers. We do not have any margin of time to accomplish this, as the harvest will come due about Sept, 10, and it will take at least 10 days simply to hire the work crews and bring them there. I am very glad the certification has come, but I am sorry it did not come two or three weeks ago."

Meanwhile, the State Employment Service, 16 Pine Grove Avenue, Kingston, today made an appeal to area workers to assist in the apple harvest in the Hudson Valley.

Starting immediately after Labor Day, and continuing for several weeks thereafter, hundreds of apple pickers will be needed in the Hudson Valley to harvest a large apple crop. The greatest need for pickers will be in Ulster County south of Kingston. There may also be picker shortages in Orange, Rockland and Dutchess Counties.

The critical period will be the last three weeks in September when several millions of boxes of highly perishable McIntosh apples must be picked in a short period of time or be lost.

Anyone able to make himself available to pick apples for a day, a week, or the whole picking season should contact the New York State Employment Service Office imediately at 16 Pine Grove Avenue, Kingston, New York, or Grange Hall, Mill Street, Clintondale, for information on earnings, housing, transportation and other details.

LBJ Is Bandaged For Wart Protection

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is wearing a small bandage on each hand between the thumb and the forefinger, but they seemingly are causing him no trouble in handshaking at White House ceremonies.

The White House said the tiny bandages were the result of wart-like growths which frequently bother Johnson when he is exposed to the sun, as he was on his last weekend at his ranch in Texas.

Corning Glass Dividend

CORNING, N.Y. (AP) — Corning Glass Works declared today a regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share of common stock to shareholders of record Sept. 13.

In announcing the action, Corning's board of directors also declared a dividend of 87½ cents a share on cumulative preferred stock.

The common stock bonus is payable Sept. 30, and the preferred stock dividend on Oct. 1.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—Savings-and-loan holding companies and airlines were strong in an advancing stock market early this afternoon. Trading was active.

The rails involved in the proposed Chesapeake & Ohio-Norfolk & Western merger put on a scrambled showing.

Rails were ahead as a group, however, and the trend also was higher among aerospace issues, electrical equipments, utilities and electronics.

It was the first really clear-cut market advance of the week, even though the gain on average was modest.

Steels were unchanged to a little higher as labor negotiations continued.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .8 at 333.7 with industrials up 1.2, rails up .2 and utilities up .5.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 2.19 at 895.79.

Among the savings-and-loans, Great Western Financial looked like a cinch to repeat Wednesday's role as most-active stock. It gained a fraction on blocks of 50,000, 49,500, 18,300 and 10,000 shares.

Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange. Trading was moderate.

Corporate and U.S. Treasury bonds were mostly unchanged.

Schweitzer Still Gravely Ill in Jungle Hospital

By ANDREW BOROWIEC

LIBREVILLE, Gabon (AP)—Dr. Albert Schweitzer, 90, lies gravely ill today in his jungle hospital, in which he has treated thousands of Africans.

The old doctor whose name is legend throughout the world, was stricken by fatigue Sunday and has not left his bed since.

Reports reaching the capital from the 100-mile distant jungle hospital were sketchy. Close associates refused to say anything or speculate on Dr. Schweitzer's chances of recovery.

"He is ill, very ill. We are all praying," a member of Dr. Schweizer's staff told an acquaintance over the telephone linking the island of Lambarene with the capital.

The hospital itself, located across the muddy Ogooue River from Lambarene Island, has no telephone. Dr. Schweitzer refused to install one.

But he sat every day at his battered desk in the hut housing the hospital's central pharmacy, where drugs were given out to ailing Africans.

"I feel admirably well," he told this reporter last Jan. 14 on his 90th birthday.

According to reports available here, Dr. Schweitzer had kept up his daily routine, dictating answers to numerous letters, studying plans for new construction at the hospital and receiving visitors.

A report said the doctor had lost consciousness Wednesday, but recovered slightly toward evening.

In the capital, Africans were philosophical about the man who had developed his life to Africa and became the center of controversy.

"He is old, very old," was a comment often heard here.

Appeal Is Taken On Court Ruling, Feraca Candidacy

An appeal has been taken in the ruling by Supreme Court Justice John H. Pennock, which ordered the Ulster County Board of Elections to place the name of Joseph Feraca, Town of Esopus, on the primary election ballot as a Republican candidate for the office of sheriff.

A hearing on the appeal taken by Patrick Mataraza, (R) a Town of Marlborough justice of the peace and deputy clerk of the Board of Supervisors, and William A. Krum, who was endorsed at the county Republican convention as the party candidate for sheriff, will be held in the Appellate Division of Supreme Court, Albany, Wednesday, Sept. 8 at 1 p. m.

List Counsels

Harry Gold will appear for Mataraza and Krum and William P. Curran is counsel for Feraca, a Town of Esopus constable.

The appellants raise the question of jurisdiction and reportedly contend that Justice Pennock should have held a hearing to determine the validity of a designating petition filed by Feraca, instead of ruling that it was the duty of the Board of Election to make specific findings.

Arthur A. Davis, county attorney, appeared before Justice Pennock for the Board of Election commissioners Joseph Epstein and Seymour Werbalowsky on the show cause order last Friday.

Rejected by Board

The Board of Elections had rejected Feraca's designating petition. Feraca has contended that determination by the board was "improper and illegal."

In a statement to The Freeman today, Feraca said his attorney had received notice of the appeal Wednesday afternoon. "Everyone knows that Patrick Mataraza and others do not want Joe Feraca's name on the primary election ballot," Feraca said.

Feraca said that Kenneth L. Wilson, chairman of the County Republican Committee, knows that he has worked for the Republican party for many years. "Kenneth Wilson and others are doing everything in their power to keep my name off this ballot," Feraca said.

Refers To Lincoln

Referring to Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, Feraca said, "All men have the right to vote for the man of their choice. I am being deprived of this privilege by the Republican headquarters."

Faraca asked why Wilson, as chairman of the county Republican party, didn't come out and settle the present dispute without making it necessary to take it to the courts?

Schine's Millions Can Be Traced to Old Nickelodeon

GLOVERSVILLE, N.Y. (AP) —A shabby, upstairs auditorium converted from a skating rink into a nickelodeon was the embryo of J. Myer Schine's $150-million hotel, theater and broadcasting business.

The 77-year-old Russian immigrant, who made his venture in this city bordering the Adirondacks and the Mohawk Valley, has sold most of the empire to a realty corporation, he announced Wednesday in New York City.

The old theater here was razed a few years ago, and the Schines donated the property for a Jewish synagogue. They have another theater here, however.

The Schine fortunes have been shaded by troubles—an anti-trust suit, Army charges of special treatment sought for son David as a draftee from the staff of the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy. The latest public difficulty is a government tax lien of $59,316 for 1964 income taxes.

J. Myer Schine went to school in Jamestown and made an unsuccessful effort to operate a motion-picture theater in Syracuse in 1914, when the ticket price was five cents.

Then, briefly, he was a candy "butcher" (peddler) on trains and a dress-salesman. Enroute to Jamestown one day, he recalls, a film-salesman on a train told him Gloversville could use a wide-awake theater-operator.

"In 1917, I came to Gloversville and negotiated a lease for the Hippodrome Theater," he said once in an interview in which he described the building as poorly equipped and antiquated.

"I was told the Hippodrome was doomed to failure. . ."

But he modernized the furnishings, and business boomed. His brother, the late Louis W., joined him. They expanded their properties, first in New York State and then into other states.

The Schines still maintain a home here.

Two Await Grand Jury Action on Robbery Charges

Two Kingston men charged with first degree robbery were in the Ulster County Jail today awaiting grand jury action after arraignment Wednesday before Justice of the Peace Robert Ferrigan, Town of Kingston.

Francis Cronk, 42, of 10 Linderman Avenue and John Murray, 26, of 269 Third Street, are accused of robbing Donald Lane, 19, of Woodstock on the night of Aug. 21.

County Investigator Thomas Mayone who made the arrests on Aug. 26 with City Detective Wilmot Hall said at the time of the investigation that Cronk, Murray and Lane had visited bars in the Kingston and Plattekill areas and then rode toward Rosendale.

At a point near the Century Cement Company kilns on Binnewater Road near Rosendale, authorities said, the car in which the trio were riding stopped and while one of the Kingston men held and slapped Lane the other allegedly took his wallet containing $32.

Lane reported the incident to the sheriff's office and investigation resulted in the arrests on warrants issued by Judge Ferrigan who last night referred the case to the grand jury and committed the defendants to the county jail.

Medicare Seen Providing No Big Fillip for Drugs

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "My husband and I have never been able to save much money. Our savings are in Government bonds, bank certificates, etc. We have bought Montana Power and a few other good stocks and are pleased with them. We would like to buy a drug stock because we believe Medicare will help these companies. What do you think of Parke, Davis or would you prefer another? We sometimes wonder how many people writing you accumulate so much money, but we know we are just as happy as they could possibly be." R. B.

A) You seem like an extremely fine couple and I am very glad that you're happy. Medicare provides only for the use of drugs in the hospital—not purchased outside—so that no great gain is seen in prospect for the pharmaceuticals. Hospitals whenever possible, buy drugs by their generic names, rather than by the higher-profit brand names. Parke, Davis is a good company, but is highly dependent on Chloromycetin, on which its basic patents expire in 1966. I prefer Merck & Company.

Q) "You very rarely write about corporation bonds. Is this because there is little interest in the field or because you don't, favor them? I'm old-fashioned enough to like to own a few bonds as a backlog to my stock list. Any suggestions? G. W.

A) I find, rather to my surprise, that you're right. It's some time since I wrote about corporates. The reason is not that I don't like them, because I do. It lies mainly in the fact that corporation bonds have largely priced themselves out of the reach of all but the institutional investor. In addition to low yield—in relation to other fixed investments, such as savings and loan accounts—there is usually very little in the way of call protection. You might be interested in Chase Manhattan Bank 4.60 notes of 1990, noncallable before 1970, now yielding 4.66 per cent.

Official May Not Hold Produce License

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The deputy commissioner of public safety of Saratoga Springs is ineligible to hold grocery-store beer license, the state attorney said today.

Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz gave that opinion in response to an inquiry from Donald S. Hostetter, chairman of the State Liquor Authority.

Lefkowitz noted that the state liquor law barred police commissioners from holding liquor licenses.

The depuy commissioner is James Maglione, 40, who was the owner of a grocery store licensed to sell beer, when he was appointed a year ago.

JOSEPH MARTORANA

Seeks Nomination For Plattekill Supervisor Post

Plattekill Supervisor Joseph Martorana has announced that he will seek a third term as town supervisor in the coming November elections.

Referring to his recent candidacy for the Republican nomination for State Senator, Martorana noted that at the time of his withdrawal from the Senate race he was disheartened and undecided as to whether or not to run again for supervisor.

However, reviewing the confidence which the people of Plattekill of both political parties have expressed in him in the past and aware of his own faith and respect for all his townspeople, Martorana stated that he has now definitely decided to run for reelection.

Pointing to his four-year record as supervisor, Martorana noted that he would continue to give to the people of the Town of Plattekill progress and improvements with economy. The supervisor also stated that he would continue to fight for better state and county highways as well as to continue the repair and improvement of all town highways.

Martorana also added that he will continue to provide expanded services and facilities and to enact local laws which will be beneficial to the town. Most important of all, Matorana concluded, will be his efforts to keep local taxes down and to strive for a tax cut next year.

Martorana stated that he had the solid support of the Town of Plattekill Republican Committee and that he would be honored to represent and to serve all the people of the town for another two years. Martorana is 44 years old, single and lives with his parents in the Tuckers Corners section of the Town of Plattekill. He is a licensed insurance broker.

Going Back Some Day to Viet for Brother's Body

By WALTER GRAY

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Don Dawson, who searched the jungles of South Viet Nam in vain for 10 months to find his brother dead or alive, returned home to a dry-eyed reunion, saying he just wants "to go back to work to support my family."

Dawson, 28, was met at the airport Wednesday night by his wife, Jeanne, 27. They had only a moment's privacy before facing newsmen. They obliged cameramen with a long kiss.

Dawson, skipper of an oil survey ship before he left for Asia late last year, said he spent $3,000 in the search, but failed to find his brother, Army Lt. Daniel Dawson, 27, a spotter plane pilot who disappeared over enemy territory last Nov. 6.

During his search, Dawson was held for four months in a Viet Cong prison camp, was stricken with malaria, then finally released after the Communists told him his brother was dead.

"I finally convinced them that my one wish was to have my brother's remains with me when I left. It was hell, but it was worthwhile. My brother would have done the same thing for me, and I would do it again," Dawson said.

His wife agreed: "I feel it was worthwhile," but added: "I'm glad that he is home."

On his failure to return with his brother's remains, Dawson said: "I don't consider that this is a finished story. When the war is over, I've got to go back, and they (the guerrillas) will take me to my brother's grave.

"In the meantime, I've got to go back to work to support my family."

Paltz Man Is Named Executive In Building Firm

Schoonmaker Brothers Inc has announced the election of Edwin Robbins to the position of vice president and general sales manager.

Robbins will control sales in the five county area which the firm of residential home builders covers, and expects to produce over 500 houses this year. These houses are built on customer's lots predominately, although the firm is currently developing two areas — Meadow Hill, in the Town of Newburgh and Rockingham Estates, in the Town of Wappinger Falls; with a total of 1200 homes to be built in these two sub-divisions.

Robbins has been with Schoonmaker Brothers since December, 1962, and has been chiefly concerned with sales in the counties of Orange, Ulster and Sullivan prior to assuming his present post.

Educated at Pratt Institute, the Art School; the Art Student's League and the Corcoran School of Art, Robbins spent 13 years in the field of commercial art, as an illustrator and did both art work and story for syndicated comic strip featuring Mickey Spillane's famous tough detective, Mike Hammer. Robbins went into the sales field in 1954 and had seven years experience in sales management and home building before joining Schoonmaker Brothers.

Robbins owns a home in New Paltz where he lives with his wife and six children.

Polio Boy Swims Mile in His Pool On 12th Birthday

SEATTLE (AP) — Wayne Hatcher can't walk a foot but he can swim a mile.

He did it Wednesday in a pool to celebrate his 12th birthday. It took 3 hours and 55 minutes for the 72 laps, but for a lad who's been a polio victim since he was 10 months old it was an Olympian feat.

Wayne labored through the pool, swimming almost entirely with his arms. Sometimes he swam on his back and sometimes did a sort of underwater crawl.

Wayne's mother, Mrs. Jack G. Hatcher, said the boy had no voice and could move only his fingers when first stricken with polio. Now he plays the piano.

When the Hatchers moved here June 20 from Wichita, Kan., where the father was a Boeing Co., engineer, Wayne could swim only a pool length. He's been taking lessons every weekday, and his teacher said "the mile was a challenge to him."

Some doctors have said Wayne never will walk, but his mother disagrees.

"He will walk," she said. "Maybe not like you and I. But he will walk."

House OKs Medical Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has sent to the Senate for expected approval a four-year, $787.5-million program designed to head off a critical shortage of medical manpower.

The measure extends two programs and adds two others to help schools turn out more dentists, nurses, osteopaths, pharmacists, optometrists, podiatrists and, particularly, physicians to meet the nation's growing health needs.

Committee Votes 12-3 to Repeal Taft Bill Section

WASHINGTON (AP) — The sharply controversial bill to repeal Section 14B of the Taft-Hartley law has cleared the Senate Labor Committee by a bigger margin than its sponsors expected.

The panel approved the measure 12-3 Wednesday but agreed to withhold it from the Senate until late next week so its foes could write their views on it.

The White House said after the vote that President Johnson expects final congressional action before adjournment. The House passed the bill 221-203 in July.

Senate sponsors say they have the votes to pass the bill but expect a two-week floor battle. The big fight will be over amendments to restrict union activities.

Section 14B allows states to ban labor contracts that compel workers to join a union. Nineteen states have enacted such bans.
